in Binding Form.

$252,000,000 FOR YEAR WILL BE DEMANDED

Contract Form Would Allow Government To Pay
Over a Period of 10
Years at 4 Per Cent.

BY JOSEPH H. BAIRD.
(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)
WASHINGTON, April 20.—(UP)—
The state department has sent requests to all but two of the United States debtor nations, to put in strict legal form the agreement they made informally at Paris last summer to pay this country $252,000,000 postponed under the "Hoover moratorium."

These requests, made on behalf of the treasury to the embassies and legations of the various debtor countries in Washington, were accompanied by legal forms. These bind the contractors to pay the amounts due over a period of 10 years with interest at 4 per cent.

In this way, the administration is seeking to remove all doubt that the suspended payments are in the same legal class as the rest of the debts.

14 Debtors.
The 14 European debtors to which requests to sign an agreement covering the Hoover moratorium were sent were:

Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Germany, who owes for the American army of occupation.

Austria and Greece were the only nations to which the requests were not sent. Both of them are parties to loan contracts with the League of Nations and other countries which makes it impossible for them to sign the agreements without the consent of their creditor nations. However,
the amounts which they owe are negligible. Presumably their 1931-1932 debts will be regularized later in some manner.

Questioned as to why nine months had elapsed before an attempt was made to legalize the moratorium, officials explained that the United States
did not have authority to sign the agreements until congress ratified the moratorium
last December.

Legal Matter.
However, the legal payment contracts were sent out only a few days ago and some observers wondered why a request for signatures had not been made immediately after congress acted.
The only explanation forthcoming was that the treasury considered the signature merely a legal matter which could be attended to at leisure.

It was recalled that when President Hoover asked congress to ratify the moratorium last fall he also suggested that the congressional debt commission be reconstituted to consider Europe's plea for reduction. The administration has waited in vain for nearly four months and congress has shown no intention to set up this commission.

Hence the question was raised as to whether the treasury might not have delayed asking for signatures in the hope that the eventual agreement
might go beyond the legal matter which was merely a legal matter which

BONUS SUBSTITUTE HINTED IN HOUSE

Lightening of Loan Costs
Seen as Possible Alternative to Cash.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—
House leaders fighting the cash bonus movement today looked favorably toward a large slash in veteran loan charges as a possible substitute for the $2,400,000,000 cash bonus measure.

This plan contemplates restoration,
in part if not in whole, of the maturity values of bonus certificates that have been whittled away by unpaid interest on loans. It is receiving prominent attention in cloak room gossip.

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, ranking republican on the ways and means committee which now is considering the bonus issue, said he favors amendment of the interest requirements, though he is not fully determined on the exact course to follow.

Each opposition witness has favored such a change. Some prefer complete retroactive repeal of the 4 1/2 per cent charged veterans on their certificate loans. Others favor reduction of this interest figure to the lowest rate paid by the government for money.

The bonus advocates argue that the interest will eat up the value of the certificates by the 1945 maturity
date. Hawley said: "Some action might be taken to prevent this."
The effect of such a plan will be learned from Brigadier General Frank
T. Hines, veterans' administrator, who, with Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, will open official administration testimony against the bonus.

Gas Holding Company Formed in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 20.—(AP)—Formation of the United Cities Utilities Company to act as a holding company for 17 artificial gas systems was announced today by Arthur K. Lee, of Chicago, president, and R. C. Douglas, of Manitowish, Wis., vice presi-

The new concern will maintain offices in Chicago.
The concerns included, it was announced, were acquired from the Southwestern Illinois Gas Company,
the Southwestern Wisconsin Gas Company, the Tennessee Gas Company and affiliates.

Plants are located in several Illinois and Wisconsin cities, and at Hendersonville, N. C.; Maryville, Tenn.; Columbia, Tenn.; Union City, Tenn.; Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Morristown, Tenn.; Shelbyville, Tenn.; and Gaffney, S. C.

Lee was organizer of the Argus
Gas Company at Dodge City, Kan.
Douglas formerly was an official of the Interstate Gas Company.

SENATE PROBES SUMMON BEARS IN STOCK STUDY

Leading Brokers Are Included in List of Short Sellers Subpoenaed in Price Investigation.

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—
In a sudden and dramatic sortie on Wall Street, the senate probers today served subpoenas on a score of New York brokers, directing them to appear with books and records tomorrow for investigation of their short selling accounts.

Without warning, agents of the senate banking committee swooped down on New York's financial district and handed subpoenas to some of the biggest firms in the stock exchange.

Their names were selected from the list of 24,000 short accounts submitted to the committee last week by Richard Whitney, president of the exchange.

Issuance of the subpoenas marked a new turn in the committee's investigation of administration charges of bear raiding to depress the market.

The brokers were called because of a belief that many of the large short accounts listed through their firms in the list furnished the committee were under fictitious names.

William A. Gray, the committee's counsel, said one of the reasons they were called was to "look at their books to see if they have been short selling themselves."

He said the committee also wanted to inquire into the accounts of their clients.

Among the brokerage firms subpoenaed were: Hornblower & Weeks;
White, Weld & Company; Farrell
Thompson & McKinnon; L. R.
Kiser & Company; Stein, Altman &
Company; W. E. Hutton & Company;
Continent & Company; Etinger &
Benson; and Bissell & Morris.

These names trickled back to the committee headquarters throughout the day, as the subpoenas were served and announced by Gray.

At least a score of subpoenas were issued, and most of them were believed to have been served, although official notice was not received in Washington in time for publication.

There was some uncertainty as to whether those subpoenaed would take the subpoenas seriously. Whitney himself has been called to testify again, but Gray predicted the committee would finish with him at least temporarily.

Committee members indicated that the entire list of short sellers, about which there has been much mystery,
would be made public tomorrow morning.

Agents have separated from the list 350 big accounts in excess of 2,500
shares and selected the names of 10 investigations immediately on the basis of the subpoena.

It is this list that has baffled the investigators. Nearly all of the names were familiar, and committee members openly charged that they appeared to be fictitious or merely names of "dummies."

It is a complete record of short accounts on the books of stock exchange members at the close of business April 8, a day on which the market took a sharp decline.

It was on that day that the banking committee, suddenly in secret session, determined to go forward with the investigation of the list of short sellers of reports of a huge bear raid being organized for the next day.

TALMADGE TO RUN FOR GOVERNORSHIP OF WET PLATFORM

Farm Head Will Make

BY R. E. POWELL.
A generally accepted belief that Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. is going to become a candidate for the long-term senate vacancy created by the death of Senator William J. Harris, Wednesday found Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, practically determined to make the race for governor.

At the end of the outcome of a contest between Talmadge and most any one of a dozen names suggested as his probable opponent, speculation was as keen at the state house and in hotel lobbies as over the likely choice of Governor Russell for the ad interim appointment to the senate.

A political situation which for a countdown would require turning back many pages of history has been precipitated by the death of the state's senior senator. Talmadge had figured in the last few days, concerned chiefly with the renomination campaigns of Russell and Senator George. And now that there also is a senate vacancy to scrap for, Talmadge has become the most discussed political figure in Georgia.

Hoover Cabinet Suggests National Prohibition Vote

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—(UP)—
The first republican prohibition referendum plan definitely known to have emanated from within the Hoover cabinet has been outlined to the United Press.

This proposal which later may become the official administration plan, provides that congress should, by majority vote, call a special national election on prohibition to be held in an off year. Congress would fix the time and appropriate for the entire exposures.

This election would constitute a national referendum. Delegates would be elected to a special convention which would complete the process of shaking down sentiment and crystallizing it either into a recommendation against any change or into specific proposals for modification or repeal.

Technically it would still be necessary under the constitution for congress to take these proposals and officially by a two-thirds vote of each house submit them to the states for ratification.

The author of the plan believes it would be preferable to eliminate partisanship by an agreement between the two parties to co-operate in the whole undertaking.

Influential democrats are anxious to get the issue out of party politics, but one of them who has given much study to this problem said this

CEDARTOWN FUNERAL
RITES AT 2 O'CLOCK

CEDARTOWN, Ga., April 20.—
Funeral services for United States Senator William J. Harris will be held here, his home town, Thursday. The body will arrive from Washington at 9:45 a. m. and will remain at the old Harris home until 11 o'clock. At that hour it will be taken to the First Presbyterian church under guard of honor from the Joseph E. Brewster
post of the American Legion,
where it will lie in state until 2 o'clock, the hour of the funeral.

The Rev. Harry Peterson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will conduct the services assisted by the pastors of all other churches in the city. Interment will be in

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—
With high dignitaries of the federal government in attendance, including President Hoover, members of the cabinet, the supreme court, the house of representatives, and the diplomatic corps, the United States Senate today paid its final solemn tribute to Senator W. J. Harris of Georgia.

The flower bedecked casket of the Georgia senator, who died here Wednesday after an illness of several weeks,
was en route tonight to his old home
at Cedartown, where burial will take place Thursday afternoon. Accompanied by an official committee of senators and congressmen appointed by Vice President Curtis and Speaker of the House Garner, members of the family left Washington with the body
at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon following the state services held in the chamber of the senate. The funeral party departed for Cedartown tomorrow morning early.

Only four such formal state funeral services as that given Senator Harris today have been ordered by the senate for deceased members in recent years. The others were for Senator Warren of Wyoming, Senator Joseph R. Robinson of Arkansas, and Senator Charles McNary of Oregon.

Services Start at 11 A. M.
The services started at 11 o'clock
this morning in keeping with a resolution offered yesterday by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, at the request of Senator Walter F. George of Georgia.
As the gong struck the hour the official senatorial committee arrange-

New Expert To Probe City Marshal's Office

W. Evans Chambers, newly-appointed efficiency expert of the municipal government, this morning will begin an investigation of the office of the city marshal, Mayor James L. Key, who selected him, announced Wednesday.

The mayor appointed Chambers
Wednesday under a resolution passed Monday by city council, and immediately charged him with making a report as to whether two additional collectors are needed in the marshal's office as provided by another council resolution.

Chambers is to file his report by Friday in order that Key can approve or veto the resolution seeking the extra help, and his action will be predicated on Chambers' report, it was indicated.

The new expert is an auditor in the office of Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, but will be lent to Key for a series of investigations in a new economy effort.

VENGEANCE SEEN IN DUAL MURDER

Girl and Man of Three Loves Slain After Bitter Fight in Dark.

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE.
MINEOLA, L. I., April 20.—(UP)— Vengeance struck viciously out of the darkness today to kill Edward B.
Brinker, who was separated from a week-mannered wife in Brooklyn, lived with another woman in Jackson Heights, and was wooing a third, unmarried working girl.

Near his body, in an unfrequented
lane shrouded with budding bushes,
was the unconscious form of his last sweetheart, Rose Welk, a 24-year-old stenographer. Her mouth had been sealed with cotton and adhesive tape.

But though the gas was removed and she tried to speak, no word came from her battered lips before she died in a Mineola hospital.

Brinker and the girl had battled for their lives. The soil around them was ripped and churned. Dirt was ground into their bodies. Their clothes were in ribbons.

Knife thrusts and crashing blows
from bludgeons had stabbed and battered them to death.

Then, when they were quiet, the slayers had taken a card from Edward Brinker's pocket, affixed it to a stick,
and set it up as a grim and mocking identification for those who should discover the tragedy.

All this happened in the black hours of this morning, within the suburban precinct of Garden City park,
two miles from Mineola. An early motorist came upon the tragedy, reporting a discovery to the police, and helped carry the still breathing form of the girl to the hospital.

Even before the police began the routine task of tracing Edward Brinker, Long Island detectives, after

Doctor Declares Massie
Undoubtedly Was De-

BY RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HONOLULU, April 20.—One of the most dramatic scenes ever witnessed in a courtroom occurred today when Mrs. Thalia Massie testified in the defense of her husband, Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., who is charged with the murder of the man he believed had assaulted her.
The climax came with incredible swiftness and it was like an emotional and vivid play.

Mrs. Massie was like a hurt child under the guidance of Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, as she, with uncontrollable fits of silent weeping she told a story which brought tears to the eyes of the many women in the room, irrespective of race or color. She is blonde, with her hair rolled up at the back, and her face is round and pale, her eyes slightly protruding. Her voice is low and she talks with a slow drawl
as if having difficulty in forcing the words, and there is little inflection.
She looked even less than her 21 years.

When Mrs. Massie broke down she quickly regained control, and she got through the day fairly well until the evening when the prosecutor, John C.
Kelley, began cross-examining her.
Then there came a transformation from the pathetic-looking figure into a woman who spoke in a low voice, but face blazing, turned on him as he produced a paper containing facts regarding her feeling toward her husband, and she spoke of a psychiatric examination made by Dr. E. Lowell Kelly, of the University of Hawaii.

The prosecutor handed her the paper and asked if the answers there were in her handwriting. She looked up at Mr. Kelley in quiet fury.
"When the doctor spoke," she demanded, "Don't you know that this is a confidential communication between doctor and patient?"

As Mrs. Massie spoke, whether it is handwriting or not, she went on in low, terse tones. "What right have you to bring this into a public court?"
She said she had given the paper to left of the document which Mr. Kelley had given her and as she tossed the fragments aside there was a burst of apprehension on the speaker's face.

Lieutenant Massie sat at stunned
for a moment and then leaned forward, clapping his hands with loud, swift movements of his arms. Judge Davis,

A. L. POOLE TRIAL REOPENS TONIGHT

Board Prepares To Push Hearing on Charges Made by Beavers.

While the proposal to establish the position of director of public safety and to name former Alderman L. O. Mosley to the post occupied the spotlight in city hall discussions of the police department row, members of the police committee Wednesday planned to resume the trial of A. Lamar Poole, assistant chief, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Poole has been charged with insubordination and incompetency by Chief of Police James L. Beavers, and has said he will not seek a pension until the present charges against him have been disposed of, while Beavers still contends he will not retire at this time.

Although Mosley has the backing of Mayor James L. Key and at least three of the five members of the police committee, he said Wednesday night that he is not considering the place that he had never been conferred with about it and that he would not want to make a change at this time. He is employed as manager of the Jefferson Davis hotel, a link in the Danville chain, at Hotel Danville.

Mention of Mosley's name was a revival of a discussion of about a year ago, when he, along with several others having military experience, were mentioned as probable successors to Chief Beavers.

An ordinance to create the post is expected to be offered in council in the near future despite the fact that such a position could not carry adequate authority until conferred at the next meeting of the legislature.

The proposal is to name the director at once and permit him to initiate such economic and changes as might be possible through ordinance until the legislature could make the changes necessary.

COPPER, YEAST, IRON, SCIENCE'S NEWEST WEAPON

Thousands Benefit From Discovery of Copper's Astonishing Power—Increases Vital Red Corpuscles of the Blood, Strengthens Intestinal Tract, Improves Health.

Malnutrition, impoverished blood and constipation have long been recognized by science as three of the most debilitating diseases of modern civilization. They gain a stealthy, tenacious hold upon the body, destroy the vital red corpuscles of the blood, and bring on a weak, anemic condition of health that often defies the most skilled treatment.

The recent discovery that a scientific combination of yeast vitamins, iron, and copper has amazing power to increase the vital, health-building red blood corpuscles and tone and strengthen the intestinal tract, now furnishes an entirely new scientific treatment for these insidious diseases. This Vitamin Compound of yeast, iron, and copper is the latest weapon of science and its results are "astonishing in comparison with older methods. If you suffer from malnutrition, impoverished blood, constipation, digestive disturbances, and auto-intoxication; if you feel draggy and tired on getting up in the morning, have no appetite, and are weak, nervous and run down, Thor's Vitamin Compound will quickly aid your system to throw off impurities and gain strength and energy. Digestive disturbances disappear, your appetite picks up, the nerves become stronger, and a feeling of buoyant health, strength and energy replaces the former feeling of exhaustion, illness and discouragement.

Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, iron, and copper is sold by all good druggists for only fifty cents and thousands of people are being benefited by this new scientific treatment. If you fail to show a gratifying gain in health within one week your money will be cheerfully refunded.—(adv.)

More Baby Prizes Are Awarded At Rogers, Inc., Pure Food Show

More prizes were awarded Wednesday in the better babies contest of Rogers, Inc., pure food show and household exposition at the Palais Peachtree, Marjorie Hardin, 31-2 years old, and Byron Hitchcock Jr., three years and eight months old, were the winners. Their mothers received free baskets of food.

With only three days of the show remaining, public interest centered on the capital prizes which will be given away on Saturday night. Among the major prizes will be a De Soto six car, a kitchen cabinet, three electric refrigerators, radios and others.

In order to obtain these prizes the winners must be present in person on Saturday night to receive them. If they are not present other numbers will be drawn. Anticipating the biggest crowd of the show, the management has made extra arrangements to handle it.

The crowd on Wednesday night was the largest of the show. Miss Sadie Lascelles, the prima donna, appeared on the program. She was in costume and sang songs of the old south.

Miss Fern Snyder continues to draw crowds by her cooking demonstration. She was given hearty applause for each of her demonstrations.

The Atlanta Junior League, which will receive the profits of the show to aid in the furtherance of its activities, on Wednesday night had Mrs. Alice Denton Jennings to assist them in their booth. She will be heard again from 9:30 to 10 o'clock Thursday night.

LUMBER INTERESTS FIGHT FOR TARIFFS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—Lumber interests of the west and northeast united today to drive the tariff wedge a little farther into the new tax bill.

Before the senate finance committee, they demanded import taxes on lumber, shingles, logs, pulpwood and wood pulp. Prompt opposition was voiced from lumber manufacturers along the Canadian border of the mid-west.

The finance committee neared the end of the hearings after another long day which brought new appeals from various industries for relief from the excise taxes in the house bill. Chairman Smoot announced he would call the committee into executive session to start revision of the house measure not later than next Monday. He expected to close the hearings tomorrow.

W. G. Branham, of Durham, N. C., spokesman for professional baseball, testified that some of the small leagues could not survive if the amusement tax rates voted by the house are made effective.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, obtained from each of the protestants support for a moderate general sales levy with an apparent view to reviving this tax.

GUARDS TO BE KEPT IN OHIO COAL REGION
 CADIZ, Ohio, April 20.—(AP)—A determination to maintain the Ohio National Guard in the eastern Ohio bituminous coal mine strike region until peace has been restored, was announced today by Governor George White.

The governor, replying to protests against the use of the troops, condemned riots which have marked the strike. A few hours before his stand was made known, a terrific explosion shook the region around Jewett, 10 miles north of Cadiz, several marches of union pickets occurred and shots were fired near the Tasma mines.

National guardsmen expressed belief the explosion was a strike aimed to frighten working miners, and that five quarts of nitroglycerin were set off.

PROBE OF HONDURANS

 HAVANA, April 20.—(AP)—The Honduran consul, Dr. Jose Maria Echecoverria, today asked the interior department to investigate alleged revolutionary activities of Hondurans in Cuba.

MOTHER TO LECTURE ON SCOTTSBORO CASE

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—Ada Wright, mother of Roy and Andy Wright, two of the seven negro boys sentenced to death at Scottsboro, Ala., sailed for Europe tonight to lecture about the case.

She will be gone about three months and will speak in the principal cities of Germany, England, Czechoslovakia, and other countries.

Thursday and Friday will have interesting developments in the baby contest. On Thursday children between the ages of four and five will be judged and awarded prizes. Friday is sweepstakes day in the contest. At that time one winner will be chosen from all the winners and proclaimed Atlanta's champion baby.

The show will continue twice a day through the week, at 2 to 5, and 7:30 to 10 o'clock every day.

Officials of Rogers, Inc., are delighted with the success of the show, and give credit to John W. Gates, nationally known food show director, for bringing this about.

In addition, there are Ride Control; Synchro-Mesh transmission with quiet second; Free Wheeling; and the year's important advancements—all at no extra cost.

For smoothness, there is live-rubber cushioning at 47 chassis points. Rubber cushions separate the springs from the axles, the motor from the frame, the frame from the body. In no other car of Pontiac's price, is cushioning at all comparable in its completeness. It increases the smoothness and silence of your ride, and adds to the life of the car.

PONTIAC OFFERS MORE ECONOMY.

Motors are large enough and able enough so that you run them at easy, economical speeds. Many careful fleet records, running over several years, show Pontiac's total expenses to be no higher than those of cars built for economy alone.

PONTIAC OFFERS MORE BEAUTY.

Fisher craftsmen have achieved the long, flowing lines of today's latest vogue, yet without the least hint of "faddishness."

PONTIAC OFFERS MORE PERFORMANCE.

Pontiac's motors, both the Six and the V-8, are generously big—and, as a result, exceptionally smooth and easy-acting. No matter what you ask, they respond with the effortless action which reveals plenty of power for the job.

THIS IS THE TIME TO BUY—If you are driving a car two, three or four years old, the chances are that you can actually save money by buying a new Pontiac.

You save repairs on your present car, and you trade it in at the season when you can get the most for it.

Come in and let us show you how easily you can own a new Pontiac—and quote you the liberal G.M.A.C. terms. With its finer quality and its new low prices, Pontiac is now—more truly than ever—Chief of Values!

WORLD STATESMEN IN GENEVA TODAY

MacDonald and Tardieu
Head List of High Officials Taking Part in Meet.

BY HARRY FLORY.
GENEVA, April 20.—(UP)—The most impressive gathering of world
statesmen in the history of the League of Nations will begin in Geneva tomorrow when the premiers and foreign ministers of every great power except Japan meet informally for discussion of outstanding international problems.

There is considerable optimism concerning the outcome of the conversations, particularly in regard to possible solution of the long-standing Franco-Italian deadlock on naval limitation, which has been one of the most serious obstacles in the path of the disarmament conference.

The sudden decision of Premier An-drieu Tardieu, of France, to accompany Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, from Paris to Geneva tonight was believed to indicate a strong hope for progress on this dispute which has proved troublesome
since the five-power naval conference in London.

LEAVE ON SAME TRAIN
PARIS, April 20.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald left on the same train tonight for Geneva, where they will take part in disarmament discussions with Secretary of State Stimson and others of the world's leading statesmen.

M. Tardieu made a sudden decision to go immediately to the scene of the disarmament conference. He made up his mind to the trip after a lengthy talk with Mr. MacDonald, which was followed by a shorter conversation with United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge.

MRS. RUSSELL MAGNA HEADS D. A. R. OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—
Mrs. Russell William Magna, of Holyoke, Mass., as president general headed the list of national officers nominated tonight for the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Their election was assured because they were unopposed. Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart is retiring president general.

Earlier the delegates to the forty-
first annual continental congress journeyed to the remodeled tomb of the Unknown Soldier and laid upon it a wreath of lilies in memory of daughters who had died within the year.
Each flower had been placed singly in the wreath as the roll was called in a solemn memorial session.

In nominating the Massachusetts
women who have served as librarian and chairman of the committee which raised funds for Constitution Hall, Mrs. Stephen P. Hurd, Massachusetts
state representative, spoke of her as "a woman at the peak of her physical, mental and spiritual powers."

Officers Nominated.
The following national officers were nominated on the slate with Mrs.
Magna:

Mrs. Raymond Grant Kimball, of Winnetka, Ill., chaplain general; Mrs.
Henry Bourne Joy, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, recording secretary
general; Mrs. John M. Beavers, Washington, D. C., corresponding secretary general; Mrs. Frank H. Parcells, Brooklyn, N. Y., organizing secretary general; Miss Katherine A. Nettleton,
New Haven, Conn., treasurer general;
Mrs. Stanley Forman Reed, Mayeville,
Ky., registrar general; Mrs. William Louis Dunne, San Antonio, Texas, historian general; Mrs. Frank Phelps Foss, Pasadena, Cal., reporter general;
Mrs. Frank M. Dick, Cambridge, Md., librarian general; Miss Myra Hazard,
of Mississippi, cheer leader general.

Two women were nominated as vice presidents general of whom eight will be elected tomorrow: Mrs. Joseph Hayes Acklen, of Chattanooga; Mrs.
Nathaniel Beaman, of Norfolk; Mrs.
E. Thomas Boyd, of Denver; Mrs.
Joseph M. Caley, of Philadelphia;
Mrs. Edward W. Cooch, of Cooch's
Bridge, Del.; Mrs. Frank Hamilton
Marshall, of Enid, Okla.; Mrs. Fred
C. Morgan, of Saco, Maine; Mrs. Edward S. Moulton, Providence; Mrs. C.
Edward Murray, of Trenton, and Mrs.
Walter L. Tobey, of Hamilton, Ohio.

One of Four Wreaths.
The wreath placed at Arlington was one of four, in a day devoted to honoring patriots. One was laid upon their own memorial, and two went to Mount Vernon for the tombs of George and Martha Washington.

The Daughters marked graves of two Revolutionary heroes in Arlington cemetery, those of William Ward Burrows, first commandant of the marine corps, and James House, of the army.

With the delegates to Mount Vernon went, as honorary chairman of their wreath-laying committee, Mrs.
Eleanor Washington Howard, 77,
last of the Washingtons to be born
at Mount Vernon, when the now-famous national shrine was the private estate of her father.

Representative Free, republican,
California, member of the house immigration committee, was besieged by the Daughters for practical pointers
on how they could help effect immigration restriction, after a speech in which he favored such action.

They vigorously applauded portions of his address in which he advocated guarding our gates against the depredations of those who would break down the principles upon which our country was founded.

Anti-Oath Measure Passes First Test

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 20.—(AP)—President Eamon De Valera's bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to the British crown was passed on first reading without a division in the dail today.

This had been expected, but a critical vote is looked for when the bill comes up for second reading next Wednesday.

THROWN FROM BRIDGE, NEGRO MAN IS KILLED

John Hardin, a negro, formerly of Luskland, Ohio, was killed instantly Wednesday morning when he was thrown from the Sprin. street viaduct
by two negro assailants, who escaped.
Witnesses said that the three negroes
were fighting before the two hurled the third to his death. Hardin plunged to the top of an express shed 40 feet below the viaduct. Police believe the negro was resisting an attempt at robbery when he was killed.

Circus Broncho Buster Held as Drunken Driver

Buck Owens, trick broncho rider with Downie Brothers' circus
and billed as a "western" movie actor, was charged with driving an automobile while drunk Wednesday night after a tri-cornered collision at Harris and Ivy streets in which Mrs. Owens and another woman was slightly injured. Two other motorists were booked on technical charges of reckless driving in connection with the accident.

Owens told police he was going east on Harris street when his car collided with a truck driven by Herman Matthews, negro, on Ivy street. The impact threw Owens' car into one driven by A. R. Sanford, 208 Edgewood avenue, whose wife was slightly hurt. All three vehicles were badly damaged.

JOSEPH FRANCE HURLS CHALLENGE AT HOOVER

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., April 20.
(AP)—A challenge has been sounded by former United States Senator Joseph
I. France, seeking the republican presidential nomination, to President Hoover to meet him in Maryland in
"a courageous manly fight."

"Upon Maryland's free soil Hoover makes his last desperate stand," France said at his home here, and added: "What he represents is repugnant to the great traditions of this state, to which my ancestors came in 1640."

"Mr. Hoover has complied with the law in filing and I hope he and his supporters will carry forward an honorable campaign..."

"I shall ask Mr. Hoover to come here and meet me like a man upon the issues. The people of the United States do not want a man for president who will skulk into office by cowardly compromise or one who seeks to be the puppet of the back-of-brow-beaten federal officeholders," he concluded.

The Marylander, who has recently returned home from a campaign to elect delegates in the mid and northwest, outlined questions he would ask the chief executive.

They ranged from his stand on prohibition to his attitude on war.

LABOR ATTACKS DEBTS OMISSION

Commons Hears Budget Rapped; England, as Whole, Unconcerned.

BY P. H. MYRING.
LONDON, April 20.—(AP)—The omission from the British budget of any provision for war debt payment to the United States was assailed in the house of commons today by Major
C. R. Attlee, speaking for the labor opposition.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville
Chamberlain, who presented the budget in parliament yesterday, apparently worked on the principle that he wouldn't have to make any American payment, the labor member declared.
"There is already a reminder from the United States that there is not the slightest chance of our getting any relief from that quarter," he continued, "therefore the chancellor hasn't really met the budget situation in this respect at all."

Members of the house were uncertain about the precise nature of the American "reminder" to which Major Attlee referred. Senator Borah's speech in the senate yesterday, in which he declared cancellation would throw the entire debt burden on the American taxpayer, was virtually ignored by the British press.

The British press and public has paid little attention to the section of the budget dealing with reparations and war debts. Where the question has been discussed at all—whether in newspaper editorials or in conversations in parliamentary lobbies—the usual attitude has been that Mr.
Chamberlain obviously could not bring either reparations or war debts into the budget because the whole question of international indebtedness remains to be dealt with at the Lausanne conference.

It was pointed out that the chancellor specifically announced his decision to hold these accounts "in suspense" and remarked that this implied
no change in the government's policy.
Major Attlee's assertion that the chancellor apparently thought he would not have to make any payments to America was virtually the only expression of this point of view.

Passerby Subdues Thief But Gets Sprained Arm

T. G. House, 1259 Boulevard,
N. E., successfully played the part of a vigilante Wednesday night, but it cost him a sprained arm and a trip to Grady hospital.
As House was walking along North avenue, near Peachtree street, he spied a negro rifle, a parked car and walk off with a package. House gave chase and soon overtook the negro, who elected to fight, to which House did not object, promptly subduing the thief.
House recovered the package and placed it in the car. He then turned the negro, Joe Davis, over to Acting Chief T. O. Sturdivant, of the detective department, proceeded to Grady for treatment to his arm and later went home.

HOUSE RUSHES WORK ON OMNIBUS MEASURE

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.
WASHINGTON, April 20.—(AP)—
Working hard in an effort to complete the huge omnibus retrenchment bill by tomorrow night, the house economy committee today eliminated provisions affecting World War veterans that had been estimated to save $28,000,000 a year.

Other of President Hoover's proposals to cut the cost of the veterans' administration by $30,000,000 were approved. The group also agreed to reach a final vote early tomorrow on whether he should have authority to reorganize certain government activities along lines decided upon by congress.

Meanwhile administration opposition to the senate policy of flat 10 per cent cuts in all appropriation bills
was expressed in a high quarter. Senate hearings on the treasury and postoffice supply bills began tomorrow.

Secretary Mills and Postmaster-General Brown conferred at length today with President Hoover. They said departmental appropriation matters had been discussed.

After the committee disposes of the question of giving the president authority to reorganize the government,
it will take up the proposals to reduce or abolish the shipping board and other miscellaneous economy proposals.

Earlier in the day Speaker Garner told newspapermen congress had received "no real cooperation" from the executive branch of the government in its drive to cut government costs.

FAR EAST CRISIS ALARMS LEAGUE

Secretary Stimson and W. W. Yen, Chinese Delegate Hold Conference.

GENEVA, April 20.—(UP)—A series of rapid developments in the far eastern war crisis, including huge troop concentrations on the Manchurian frontier, alarmed League of Nations leaders tonight after Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson had conferred with the Chinese delegate, W. W. Yen.

The developments included:
1—Advice from Tokyo that Japan had repeated the League's latest proposal for evacuation of Shanghai.
China officially accepted, but the official Japanese answer has not yet arrived.

2—A private statement understood to have been made to League officials
by a high soviet official that Russia's attitude toward Japan had "radically stiffened," that some 400,000 troops are being massed on the Manchurian frontier and that 400 bombing planes are being constructed.

3—The threat of small powers in the League's committee of 19, handling the far eastern crisis, to force
the League assembly to reconvene and take drastic action which would lead
Japan to withdraw from the League.

These developments, following recent military activities on the Manchurian-Siberian border, were considered unusually grave in League circles. They revived insistent reports that Stimson would confer with Maxim Litvinoff, the soviet foreign com-
to deny the report.

Americans in Geneva were understood to be greatly disappointed by the Japanese attitude. Stimson has been much interested in the negotiations, conferring with Yen this morning.

'Hangman Game' Costs Life of 11-Year-Old

TACOMA, Wash., April 20.—(AP)
A game of hangman he played supposedly to amuse his two-year-old sister, has cost the life of George Clausen, 11. He died late last night after lying unconscious more than 24 hours in a Tacoma hospital,
where he was taken when his mother found him hanging by a rope in his bedroom.

$2,200 IS ADDED TO C. OF C. FUND

Total Now $32,500, With Only Two More Days
To Go.

Three divisions reporting Wednesday at the luncheon held by the Chamber of Commerce showed that $2,200 additional has been pledged to the chamber's "three-year program" campaign which will be brought to a close Friday night. The drive is for the purpose of raising $57,500 to support the various industrial and business activities divisions of the trade body for the next three years.

Wednesday's luncheon meeting was the second to be held this week. More than 125 workers in the campaign were present, and reports from the divisions headed by Samuel C. Dobbs, George A. Bland, Frederick R. Seeley and Bob Clark were read. At the end of the meeting an announcement was made that to date $32,500 of the budget has been subscribed.

Judged by the confidence and optimism radiating from the assembled workers Wednesday, the $25,000 balance to be raised will be obtained before the campaign is brought to a close. N. Baxter Maddox, general chairman of the drive, said he had found some enthusiasm and confidence, and predicted that the campaign would go "over the top" substantially.

YOUNG ELEPHANT FOR CANDLER ZOO HARD TO UNLOAD

"Women and elephants never forget," according to a modern version of a tricky rhyme, and no wonder a combination of the two non-forgetters furnished the chief problem Wednesday of transferring $50,000 worth of wild animals from a railway express car to the Briarcliff road estate of Asa G. Candler where in the future the lions, bears, llamas, monkeys, elephants, zebras and other wild beasts will be housed in Mr. Candler's extensive zoo.

All seemed well at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning when the train bearing the animal party arrived. The lions were extremely polite and peaceful, as were monkeys and other jungle citizens. But when attempts were made to entice a 4-year-old baby elephant from the car she had occupied from the Benson animal farms in New Hampshire—why she thought otherwise and put up a terrific objection to a landing.

Trainers said that perhaps the pachyderm's memory of five seasick days and nights aboard a boat beset by storms in the Atlantic had left an aversion for gangplanks and their ilk. A sloping gangway led from car to ground.

But all's well that ends well, and soon the elephants and other animals were trudging to the Candler zoo. The more vicious beasts were transported in special-built cages. Of particular interest to the large crowd gathered to see the unloading at Emory University were two baby chimpanzees, Gusie and Betty, valuable animals.

Following their installation in the zoo, the animals will be on display for the general public on certain days of the week, Mr. Candler said.

DAMERON TO SPEAK TO ADVERTISING CLUB

Thursday's luncheon meeting of the local Advertising club will be featured by an address by Dr. Kenneth Dameron, of the department of business organization of the Ohio State University. The meeting will be held in Rich's tea room.

Dr. Dameron has completed a trip through the southwest, where he spoke before the Advertising clubs at Kansas City, Oklahoma City and Tulsa. These clubs so highly recommended his message that the Atlanta club is looking forward to hearing him.

The subject which Dr. Dameron will use is "Profit Murder Mystery." He will show that advertising is a merchandising device and must take into consideration both consumer demand and company policy. He will illustrate his ideas with concrete examples. An invitation is extended to all businessmen interested in merchandising and advertising to hear Dr. Dameron.

FIRE AGENTS PLAN TO ELECT MEMBERS

The April meeting of the Atlanta Association of Fire Insurance Agents will be featured by the election of a large number of new members whose applications have recently been received. Shortly after the first of the year the association adopted new by-laws and put on an intensive campaign which resulted in increasing the membership from 25 to 90. This means that approximately 90 per cent of the fire insurance business written by stock companies in Atlanta is represented in the association's membership.

Herman J. Haas is president of the local association. He was re-elected at the annual meeting in January.

Three More Atlanta Youths Given Title of Eagle Scout

The coveted title of Eagle Scout has been awarded to three more Atlanta boys who have so fulfilled the ideals of scoutcraft that they now rank among the highest in the organization. They are shown above. Left to right are O'Connell Dougherty, Hugh Jordan and Beverly Johnson. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Three more Atlanta boys have attained the highest honor the Boy Scouts of America may receive, according to announcement by Atlanta Scout council officials Wednesday. They are Beverly Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Johnson, 908 Adair avenue, N. E.; Hugh Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Jordan, 1255 Ridgewood drive, N. E., and O'Connell Dougherty, son of D. O. Dougherty, 19 The Prado.

Appearing before the last meeting of the court of honor the three scouts were given the Eagle rank after they had passed the final requirements. Each one of the trio has held troop offices for several years.

Scout Johnson is a member of Troop 31, of which Harry Milligan is scoutmaster, while Scout Jordan is a member of Troop 55, of which W. M. Hollingsworth is scoutmaster. Scout Dougherty is a member of Troop 18, of which E. H. Rice is scoutmaster.

Aged Statute Revived In Federal Run Case

An archaic law placed on the government statute books July 13, 1886, was called upon Wednesday by Assistant District Attorney J. M. Johnson in seeking to confiscate two automobiles taken in a still raid some weeks ago. Judge E. Marvin Underwood signed a rule nisi for the defendants, Mrs. J. C. Flippin and O. B. Wright, of 1753 Johnson road, to show cause before him on May 21 why the cars should not be seized.

The old law makes it possible for the seizure of the cars if it is shown that they were to be used to move liquor with intent to evade revenue tax. The law does not name automobiles, of course, but sets out that liquor may be seized if it is the intent to move it so as to evade a tax of $1.10 per gallon.

WITNESSES SAY WOMAN BEAT CHILD TO DEATH

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 20. (P)—A dozen witnesses testified today in Buncombe county superior court that Mrs. Margaret Brooks, on trial for murdering Willie Mae Mashburn, 8, her foster daughter, beat the child with stove wood and "whipped her for exercise" shortly before she died.

Morris Brooks, the husband, also on trial, was not implicated in actual abuse of the girl by the witnesses.

The child's playmates said Mrs. Brooks forced Willie Mae to run from the house to a stump and back repeatedly for exercise, and once beat her with a "chair stick" for sitting down on the stump to rest.

Calvin Cutshaw, brother-in-law of the defendant, said Mrs. Brooks once told him she did not care if Willie Mae died.

HARRIS RESIGNS WHEN REINSTATED AT COLUMBIA U.

NEW YORK, April 20. (P)—Reed Harris, expelled editor of the Columbia University student daily, was reinstated to his classes today, and then immediately resigned.

The action was announced by Associate Dean Nicholas McKnight, and followed a statement by Harris' attorney, Raymond L. Wise, he was ready to serve papers in a $100,000 breach of contract suit against the university.

The youthful editor, who wrote caustic criticisms of "intercollegiate football" and charged the university dining hall was run for personal profit, was expelled April 1. Protested students later declared a strike and stayed away from classes for a day.

Dean Herbert E. Hawkes, who expelled Harris, is now in Europe. The McKnight statement said "university authorities fully sustained Dean Hawkes in his action" and declared the Harris case "did not come within the principles of free speech and freedom of the press."

The statement declared Harris had voluntarily submitted to Dean Hawkes a satisfactory apology for his letter of April 6, replying to the dean's demand for explanation of the dining hall charges.

FINEST FACE POWDER ADHERES EVENLY

Expensive face powders spread and adhere evenly. They never cake or flake. Of course it necessitates the use of the most expensive ingredients to make that kind of a face powder. Here's a helpful and economical suggestion. The next time you are at Woolworth's or any other toilet goods counter that features the finest preparations at lowest prices get the new 10c Vivant Face Powder. Made from the finest ingredients, no better can be made. You will find it in all the best shades and the 10c size Vivant Face Powder is the most generous package for the price. It comes in a beautiful green velvet and silver box.

Alleged Dry Tipster Is Beaten to Death

CLEVELAND, April 20. (P)—The slaying of a pretty 28-year-old divorcee, Mrs. Kathryn Jones, was laid by detectives tonight to her reputed activities as a "tipster" for prohibition agents.

Sol Levy, 40, identified by two persons as the man they saw kicking and beating Mrs. Jones to death early today, was charged with first degree murder. Eight others were held as material witnesses.

Mrs. Jones, mother of an 8-year-old girl, formerly was an operative for several private detective agencies and police said they were informed she told prohibition agents of a number of liquor law violations. Federal officials said she had no connection with their work.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 21, 1932.

THE RUMBLINGS IN THE EAST.

It is probable that there is more bluff than serious threat behind the Russo-Japanese rumblings over the situation in Manchuria.

Undoubtedly the soviet government is viewing with uneasiness the strengthening of Japan's hold over the rich territory which seems destined to be the pivot point of future far eastern developments, but the fact remains that neither Russia nor Japan is in a position to come to grips with the other.

A war with Japan would mean the collapse of the five-year plan upon which the soviet leaders have based their program for the development of a great communist nation—a plan which is already beginning to show unsoundness as its development reaches the stage where intelligence and efficiency must take the place of the ignorant labor which has sufficed during its early stages.

Equally as serious would be the opportunity presented for the hundreds of thousands of so-called white Russians in the Balkans, France and Manchuria to launch an attack at the soviet government. From their headquarters in Paris these anti-soviet Russians have maintained close touch with their fellow expatriates and have maintained sufficient military organization to enable them to pour at least a half million men over the Russian border if the red armies were battling with Japan in Manchuria and Eastern Siberia.

There are still in Russia millions of former czarist and Kerensky supporters who would flock to the banners of the white Russians, so that to the threat of economic collapse would be added a very real military threat if Russia were to declare war on Japan.

Japan likewise is in no position to throw down the gauntlet to Russia. Already the yen has dropped to new low levels as a result of the expensive campaigns in Manchuria and around Shanghai—campaigns in which the military clique which forced them did not have the backing of the imperial family.

Already growing discontent has been manifested by a considerable portion of the people over the further decline in the economic situation, which is properly accredited to the fighting of the past eight months and the resultant disruption of international relations.

In all probability Japan's purpose is to continue expanding and strengthening its hold on Manchuria and to dig in and be satisfied with the gains made.

Russia, having concentrated large bodies of troops along the Siberian border, is now no doubt diplomatically bluffing, with no expectation of backing its bluff with bullets.

One very serious drawback to birth control is that it can't be made retroactive.

WHERE JUSTICE SUFFERS.

The urgent need for steps to eliminate the long delays in law so often resulting in thwarting justice is illustrated in an appeal recently argued before the supreme court of Indiana.

That court, six years behind in its business, is now considering cases which came to it in 1926.

In the case of one of the appeals from conviction that year, the convicted man, out under bond, has in the meantime served a two-year sentence in a federal penitentiary, been identified as a member of a notorious gang of bank robbers and is now serving a 15-year sentence for burglary in Missouri.

Had the law acted with promptness in his Indiana conviction he would not have been turned out on bail to commit the depredations for which he has since been sentenced.

It is all too easy for the guilty in all parts of the country to postpone for long periods the just punishment for their offenses.

Our present legal system, through inexcusable and unnecessary technicalities, puts a premium on crime and in the long delays in the settlement of civil suits is a needless burden to business.

If these technicalities are not necessary to insure justice in England, France and other countries, there is no reason why they should be in the United States.

A senator thinks the president should be given more blanket power. We don't know—he's already in a sweat.

STATE MUSIC CLUBS MEET.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs, now in session, brings to Atlanta music lovers from every section of the state. Many of the delegates are accomplished musicians and others have devoted their lives to promoting a greater appreciation of music among all classes of our people.

As a nation we are far less familiar with the better class of music than the people of other countries. Musical appreciation is inherited by the children of such countries of continental Europe as Italy, France and Germany and they are trained to realize the meaning and value of both modern music and that which has come down through the years.

Even the music of the east, barbaric and meaningless to occidental ears, is thoroughly understood by the people of that section of the world and plays an important part in their daily lives.

Music furnishes a mode of expression that can be found in nothing else, but such an expression cannot attain its proper importance in our national life without a greater understanding and appreciation than we have.

Our growth along musical lines has been handicapped by the lack of musical background which other countries have. Our forefathers were too busy wrestling a living from the broad stretches of a new land to pay more than incidental attention to the arts.

So much the more important, therefore, that our cultural development should be stressed now. Such organizations as the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs are doing valiant service to that end and should receive the co-operation of all our people.

We've just discovered the secret of the efficiency of the Japanese army. The private soldiers are paid only $2.25 per month. That would make any one mad enough to fight.

A RAP FOR RADICALISM.

In urging the Daughters of the American Revolution to "rise speedily against radicalism," Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, retiring president of the organization, spoke in the spirit of the hardy spirits who launched this great nation on its stride to world supremacy.

If there is one nation in the world in which radicalism of every description should be taboo, it is the United States. Founded on bedrock principles of sound government, it was formed by straight-thinking men and women who would today show stern disapproval of the activities of modern radicals.

Radical theories and isms have no place in good government, in the teaching of our young or in any other sphere of our national life. We have grown as a nation through sound progressiveness and our adoption of the suggested radical departures from the course which has brought us to the top rank of the nations of the world would mean that we were planting a canker in our national life which would drain its vitality.

The pages of history are filled with the stories of nations which have been brought low because they have abandoned simple and straightforward thinking for "new" ideas and theories. The United States should watch its step lest it make the same mistake, and the warning of Mrs. Hobart should serve a splendid purpose to that end.

A large number of Americans have the wolf at the door on their minds, observes a politician. No wonder the poor animal has such a lean and hungry look.

We truly hope that the postoffice will make enough on 3-cent postage to enable it to buy better pens for the lobby so that the long-suffering public may have a rest from reading water-logged wisecracks about post-office pens.

Church Sensation.

Tens of thousands of people are flocking to see and hear Professor Ude, scholarly Roman Catholic priest, whose appearance of a prophet of old. He is an Austrian, but recently he was in Holland, whence he was removed by the Dutch bishops, who ascribed to him spiritual superiority, the bishop of Graz in Austria, to recall him.

Ude went. But he went back in a suit of indignation and humiliation. He expects to bring his case before a canonical court to obtain justice, and to resume his itinerant preachings. Professor Ude preaches abstinence from the war-game in every form. He maintains that it is contrary to the teachings of Jesus to bear arms, even in self-defense. He makes no compromise of any kind and has made himself undesirable to half a dozen European countries. His sermons are marked by eloquence, great sincerity and power. So much so that he is referred to in the press as "the Austrian Savonarola."

The church authorities are not happy about Professor Ude. They want to curb his activity. He denounces social injustice and makes it clear that if the church refuses to take the leadership in this chaotic time it must be prepared to abdicate and go the way of the church in Russia. They call Professor Ude a revolutionary, a dangerous Utopian, an anarchist.

Hitler the Hopeful.

"I am chosen by destiny to lead the German people out of the house of bondage and slavery in which it languishes since the Treaty of Versailles went into effect," said Adolf Hitler at a mass meeting shortly before the electoral battle.

The German people has chosen to do, the German people are not yet in accord with that choice. But to Hitler the elections have been merely a test of the strength of his leadership. He now knows on how many he may count in the event he should attempt an effort to attain power by another route than the one tonight.

U. S. TRADE POLICY CHANGE IS URGED

I had a call from the police this morning," said "to come and get his car, which had been parked overnight, and which the police threatened to impound. The Great Man Is Still a Small Boy Who Tries Harder When You Praise His Muscle

By Robert Quillen

A certain young man possessed an excellent baritone voice. He enjoyed the sound of it, but little singing was done in his community except in the churches and he didn't associate with church people. In fact, several worthy people had expressed an interest in his soul and embarrassed him as a lost cause.

Then a shrewd and tactful man, hearing him sing at some social gathering, remarked with just the right degree of disinterested enthusiasm: "If I had a wonderful voice like yours, I'd certainly be using it in the service of my Lord."

Five years later that young man was the dominating influence in his church. Another man, a public official, was almost persuaded by a selfish faction in his community to do a thing that would have caused a bitter religious quarrel.

Before he committed himself, a local newspaper printed the story and commented editorially: "The community has nothing to fear. Mr. Blank is an intelligent man and a gentleman, and will do nothing to injure his neighbors."

Blank justified the newspaper's description. These incidents will, say, illustrate the power of human vanity. Quite true; but they also illustrate the power of praise.

All men covet the good opinion of their fellows. The humblest ditch digger glows with a new sense of manhood when his skill or strength is praised; the greatest of men delights in the praise of the humble.

This hunger for commendation makes praise a force that can be harnessed to move the wheels of the world. Criticism, intended only to anger or discourage; praise, justly earned and judiciously administered, develops the self-respect and the ambition that are the foundation of all achievement.

No normal person, having received a morsel of praise, will be content until he has earned another. If you covet influence, here is your opportunity: For high and low alike will in some degree follow the direction of your praise as pot plants lean to face the sun.

LISTS ARE OPENED FOR POST 6TH

Subcommittee Action Assures Contest for Seat Vacated by Moseley.

Entry lists for the vacated post of alderman from the sixth ward were opened Wednesday night at a special meeting of the subcommittee of the democratic executive committee, which projected discussion of a proposed place on the May 25 primary ballot a referendum on whether the city marshal's office should be abolished was not made.

Dr. Samuel Green, chairman of the committee, who presided at the executive session of the committee, said entry lists for the successor of former Alderman L. O. Moseley, who resigned Monday, would remain open until 5 o'clock on the afternoon of April 25.

Moseley's place was filled through councilman election of W. W. Waits, but the decision of the subcommittee would be the decision of the city council.

MR. MASSIE SOBS ON WITNESS STAND

who has been extremely lenient toward the public, turned angrily and threatened to clear the room if there was not immediate silence. Mr. Kelley was not had been getting redder and redder as he watched the witness, and as they stared at each other he blurted out: "Thank you, Mrs. Massie. At last you've shown yourself in your true colors."

It was evident that Mr. Kelley was mad clear through and so was the witness. She left the witness stand and moved forward, half bending over as if she found it difficult to stand, twisting the handkerchief in her hands in a nervous grip.

Her husband went quickly forward to meet her. She dropped her head on his shoulder as he put his arms around her and helped her into a seat. Throwing her arms around him she cried loudly and hysterically: "What right has he got to say that I don't love you? Everybody knows I love you."

For the first time she sobbed out loud and for a few moments there was a feeling of sympathy and commiseration among the spectators, mixed with wonder at such an unexpected outburst from one who had been so well controlled under previous questioning. It was as if all the dramatic and emotional parts of her character had welled up in that one final cry of protest.

She wiped her eyes with her handkerchief and looked at the witness stand and the witness, who had watched the quick unrolling of the exciting and somewhat theatrical scene.

There were few other witnesses, but everything else was submerged by the appearance of Mrs. Massie. She came into the court room for the first time and sat down next her husband and her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, co-defendant with Lieutenant Massie and two navy enlisted men, E. J. Lord and O. J. Jones, for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, a Hawaiian. She undoubtedly looked forward with dread to her appearance on the stand in the story of the attack upon her last September. She had been in the court only a few minutes when she asked for a drink of water.

She waited, holding her husband's hand, during the cross-examination of Dr. Everett Williams, alienist for the state, when Mr. Darrow asked her, she went forward stooping and groped for the witness chair before the clerk stopped her. Then for a moment she stood straight up, her hand raised and set down with the curiously quiet demeanor of a little girl.

There was a faintly wistful look in her eyes as she looked at the witness stand. She was a fairly young woman, but her face was lined with the stress of the attack upon her last September. She had been in the court only a few minutes when she asked for a drink of water.

BRYANS GETS 4 YEARS ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

James F. Bryans, 26, of DeKalb county, Wednesday was sentenced to from four to seven years in prison by Judge John B. Hutcheson of DeKalb superior court, after Bryans had pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. Bryans' second wife, whom he married several weeks ago and with whom he was living at the time of his arrest, fainted when sentence was imposed.

Bryans' first wife, it was brought out at the trial, was deserted by her husband shortly after the birth of her second child. She had been married to him four years. She discovered recently that her husband was living with a second wife within two miles of her home, and the arrest followed. The first Mrs. Bryans was not in court when Bryans was sentenced.

Dr. Marx To Speak.

Dr. David Marx, rabbi of the Jewish temple, will speak at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon before the 27 Club forum at the Wheat Street Baptist church. Dr. Marx's subject will be "The Kind of Religion Needed in Times Like These."

Georgia Stone Urged For Capital Library

Stone Mountain granite may be used in the new addition to be built on the east front of the congressional library at Washington, Congressman Robert Ramspeck advised local interests Wednesday, stating that it would give work for five or six months to some three or four hundred workers here.

The Atlanta congressman said he had had a conference with David Lynn, capital architect, relative to a bid by Jacobson Brothers, of Chicago, the samples of Stone Mountain granite accompanying the Chicago firm's proposal. Mr. Ramspeck added that he believed the Georgia product would be used if the consulting architects also gave their approval.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT
HERE IS REPORTED

A slight increase in employment in textile mills during March and increases in operating schedules in several of the major industries of the south was reported by O. F. Bading, state director of employment for the United States department of labor. Reports on nationwide activities were reported to Mr. Bading by John R. Alpine, supervising director of the department of labor.

The report continued to say there was some increase in employment in certain units of the iron and steel industry and in automobile factories. Plants manufacturing boots and shoes also showed a step-up in working forces, Mr. Bading said.

Adverse weather in March halted building in Georgia, according to the report, and an increase had been expected for April, along with an increase in highway work.

So far as Atlanta was concerned, there was little change in conditions, the report showed, although a made-work campaign resulted in the employment of 220 men for two weeks. Other cities in Georgia showing slight changes in employment conditions were Albany, Athens, Columbus, Macon, Savannah, Waycross, Moultrie and Rome.

150 POOR FAMILIES
GIVEN NEW HOPE
BY GIFT OF SEEDS

Gardens in which are raised not only food but health and courage, pride and hope, are being grown in Atlanta. They are thriving in little plots, front yards, back yards, and vacant lots, about the humblest of Atlanta's homes where live the families of the unemployed.

Seeds for these gardens have been provided to 150 families, otherwise without resources, by the unemployment relief headquarters, with the result, reported at a gathering of staff workers Wednesday afternoon, of an improvement in the spirits and general condition of many who had fallen into the danger of hopelessness and disaster. This, according to Mrs. Mabel M. Curry, manager of the relief headquarters, in addition to providing the means of better living for them all.

STATE FEDERATION OF MUSIC CLUBS HOLDS CONVENTION

Press Breakfast To Feature Today's Program
Prepared for Entertainment of Music Lovers

The press breakfast, a novel event on the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs program, creating perhaps as much interest as any other feature of the convention, takes place this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's Club. Miss Mozelle Horton, state publicity chairman for the G. F. M. C., will preside, introducing the speakers and distinguished guests. Speakers will be representatives from the three Atlanta newspapers, N. S. Noble, city editor of The Atlanta Constitution; Mrs. Mildred Seydell, feature writer and columnist of the Atlanta Georgia; and Mrs. Mabelle S. Wall, music and art critic of the Atlanta Journal.

Among the distinguished guests present will be Mrs. Rix Stafford, society editor of The Atlanta Constitution; Mrs. Edward Van Winkle, society editor of The Atlanta Journal; Mrs. Robert Hunt, society editor of the Atlanta Georgian; Mrs. J. J. Clyatt, state president G. F. M. C.; Mrs. Walter H. Bedard, president of Atlanta Music Club; Mrs. DeLoe L. Hill, Miss Nana Tucker, Mrs. Caroline Newton, Savannah; Mrs. John B. Guerry, Montezuma; Mrs. Cora Cox Lucas, of Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. O. G. Hiestand, of Florida, and many others.

The program features particularly activities of the press, the only musical feature to be a group of negro spirituals, sung by George Garner, world famous negro tenor, who will appear in concert in Atlanta Friday. Appropriate favors will be given the guests.

Business Sessions.

Following the breakfast the first business session of the convention will be held, with reports of officers and an address by Mrs. O. G. Hiestand, of Florida. At 11:30 o'clock Francis Mitchell, young Atlanta pianist and former winner of the state young artist contest, will compliment the federation with a piano recital, using a well-chosen and interesting program. The public is invited to this program as the others, no admission being charged.

The afternoon session, continuing the reports, will convene at 2:30 o'clock, followed by an address by Mrs. DeLoe Hill, Georgia's representative on the national board. At 4 o'clock Mrs. William Pullin of McDonough, will have charge of the home music contests.

This evening's program will present Madame George McKee, well-known Atlanta soprano; Miss Martha Galt, Canton, and Mrs. Marjorie Bush-McConnell, Augusta, in two-piano numbers, and a harp ensemble from the Griffith School of Music, Atlanta, composed of Misses Marion Keeler, Anita Huber, Elinor Wilkinson, Ring-Hornby, Mesdames Mary Griffith-

Dobbs, Margie Griffith and Lucien Thompson.

The pages for Thursday are Miss Dorothy Waldman, chairman; Miss Elizabeth Branch, Mrs. Royall Miller, Miss Mildred Rand and Miss Helen Klingh. Mrs. Fred Thomas is general chairman of the pages.

Formal Banquet.

The convention opened last evening with a formal banquet at the Atlanta Woman's Club with Mrs. Walter H. Bedard, president of the Atlanta Music Club, hostess club of the convention, acting as official hostess, and Mrs. J. J. Clyatt, of Tifton, state president of the federation, heading the honor guest list. Assisting Mrs. Bedard in receiving and entertaining were Mrs. Cliff Hatcher, chairman of hospitality of the Atlanta Music Club, and chairman of the banquet, and officers of the Atlanta Music Club, Mrs. R. H. King, Mrs. Thad Morrison, Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, Miss Helen Coyne Riley, Mrs. Jane Mattingly, Mrs. Lydia Wheeler Baskin and Mrs. B. L. Bugg.

Distinguished guests present were Mrs. DeLoe Hill, Georgia's member of the national board; Mrs. O. G. Hiestand, national board member from Florida; Mrs. Cora Cox Lucas, South Atlantic district president; Mrs. William Dunn, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club; Miss Nana

Presiding Officer and Participants in Music Club Convention

Debate Is Arranged At Agnes Scott On Friday Evening

Agnes Scott College will meet Sophie Newcomb in an inter-collegiate debate on Friday night, April 27, at 8:30 o'clock in the Bucher Scott gymnasium on the Agnes Scott campus. The subject will be "Resolved, That All War Debts Should Be Cancelled, Including Reparation." The affirmative side of the question will be upheld by Miss Mary Hudson, of Savannah, Ga., representing Agnes Scott College.

On the same evening an Agnes Scott team will debate the negative side of the same question at Sophie Newcomb, in New Orleans, La., the team being composed of Miss Anne Hopkins, of Charlotte Court House, Va., and Miss Porter Cowles, of Lexington, N. C., representing Agnes Scott.

Miss Smith Feted At Party Series.

Miss Virginia Smith, whose marriage to Samuel A. Council will be a social event of Saturday, was central figure at the luncheon at which her mother, Mrs. William Barnes Smith, was hostess yesterday at her home on Peachtree road. Misses Elizabeth and Elma Smith assisted their mother in entertaining.

Covers were placed for Misses Smith, Virginia Allen, of LaGrange, Ga.; Elizabeth Smith, Elma Smith, Mesdames Harry Calloway, Henry Maddox, J. L. Graham, Charles Davidson, of Lithonia, Ga.; Thomas R. Gress, Sterling Slappey, Linwood Gray and the hostess.

Miss Sage Honored.

Miss Charlotte Sage, popular member of the younger set, was the honor guest yesterday at the informal tea at which her mother, Mrs. Dan Y. Sage, entertained at her home on Inman Circle.

Whiteford P-T. A.

Whiteford P-T. A. will sponsor a talking movie, "The Connecticut Yankee," with Will Rogers in the school auditorium Friday, April 22, at 7:30 o'clock. Admission for adults 20 cents, and children 10 cents. The public is invited.

New England Women Elect Mrs. Mullin Colony President

Mrs. J. H. Mullin was elected president of the Atlanta colony, National Society of New England Women, at the annual meeting of the colony held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. R. Garland Peoples, at 1064 Clifton road, N. E. Other officers elected to serve with Mrs. Mullin were: Mrs. D. W. Havens, vice president; Mrs. D. W. Copeland, recording and corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. S. Fiske, treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Skidmore, registrar, and Mrs. F. S. Roberts, auditor.

Hospital 48 Program.

Friends of veterans at United States Hospital No. 48 are invited next Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock to enjoy a program sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, program chairman, at the hospital, H. F. Smith Jr., and his orchestra will render a number of selections on their guitars. Several talented pupils of the Gordon-Epby studio will dance. This group includes Billie Kitchens as master of ceremonies, with Jacqueline Gallette, Marjorie Laramore, Hortense and Jessie Jacobs. Readings will be given by Misses Mildred Pearson and Elnora Murray, pupils of Mr. Watson, at the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression.

Miss Catherine Johnson, left, gifted young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Johnson, of East Point; Mrs. James J. Clyatt, of Tifton, center, gracious president of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs, and Miss Agnes Clinkscales, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Clinkscales, of East Point. Mrs. Clyatt is presiding over the sessions of the thirteenth annual convention of the State Federation of Music Clubs being held this week at the Atlanta Woman's Club. Miss Johnson and Miss Clinkscales will take part in the junior festival program which will be a feature of Friday's session. They are members of the East Point Junior Music Study Club under the direction of Mrs. Augustus M. Roan.

Prominent Atlantans Open Gardens to Honor Visitors

Gardens distinctive in their beauty were opened yesterday by a group of prominent Atlantans in honor of the hundreds of visitors who are attending the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America. Under the April sun the rare plantings and blossoms caused enthusiastic comment from the guests; statues added to the classic beauty and ten houses, perched on hillsides and in the garden, were made additional beauty spots.

Mimosa trees, whose fairy-like beauty brought to mind Howard Weeden's couplet, "The South wind shakes the mimosa awake, oh, gentle or cruel perfume," frame grassy garden spaces at Pine Hill, the spacious home of Mrs. Clark Howell Sr., a prominent member of the Mimosa Garden Club. Mrs. Howell has specialized in the beautiful trees from which the club gets its name and the delicate beauty of the flowers add to her lovely gardens. An out-of-door chimney nestles in a flowered nook. Built of native stone and housing an iron crane it fits into the garden perfectly. A wild ravine has been preserved with natural shrubs and plants growing undisturbed, and a series of terraces flung gay flowers. Blue and pink phlox and dwarf iris pattern a crazy quilt with their riot of color along a sunny walk, and ground holly guards a winding pathway. The swimming pool and a series of smaller pools are of interest, water hyacinths and pond lilies add color to the crystal-clear surface of the water, while goldfish dart in the depths below.

Gardens at Woodhaven. Majestic statues depicting in Italian marble the four seasons adorn the handsome estate of Mrs. Robert F. Maddox. Master craftsman wrought with skilled fingers in ages ago to produce these works of art which were found on the grounds of an old estate in Italy and brought to Atlanta by Mr. and Mrs. Maddox. Just beyond the summer house is a little fountain encircled with pink verbenas which grace the garden. Mrs. Maddox's ancestral home, once located on the corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets where the First National bank now stands. From the same garden was brought the wrought iron gate inscribed with the birth date and name of Mr. Maddox which was erected by his father, the year of his birth, and the year of the garden's founding.

Mrs. J. J. Goodrum has a flagged entrance walk to her handsome home bordered with box wood. A star-shaped pool is a feature of the spacious gardens with its planting of flowers reflected in the crystal water. A wall garden with blossoming tulips, pansies, and hundreds of roses is encircled with an ivy-hung stucco wall. Oft times Mrs. Goodrum serves tea in her garden and presides with charming dignity at the tea table set amongst the flowers.

Mrs. Hunter Cooper's garden is most colorful with the brilliant tulips lifting their bonnets beside phlox and other blooming plants. A flagstone terrace overlooks the garden below and a rock fountain where sprays of clear water sparkle in the sunlight to fall into the rocky basin below. Blue violas and spring perennials add their beauty to the plantings.

Terraced gardens where roses, poppies and iris bloom are attractive features of the garden of Mrs. Richard Johnston. Rock work outlines a tiny canal where water trickles on its way between the growing flowers and statues placed against a background of green hedges.

Yellow jasmine and the lavender and purple of wisteria offer an effective color note in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. Price Gilbert. A series of terraces planted with flowering shrubs lead to the lower garden, and paths bordered with blooming flowers afford vistas of woodlands beyond.

Mrs. Sam Finley's garden has two levels with a fountain and sundial. Dwarf box borders the parterres and the green of clipped grass gives an interesting contrast. Upon the upper level a planted walk of roses greets the eye.

Mrs. Dorsey's Garden. Mrs. Cam Dorsey's garden boasts a rare collection of southern evergreens with terraces and grass steps leading down to the lower garden. A trickling stream is bordered with wild flowers and the gracious chataigne has carefully preserved the natural beauties of the woodland. The wild ravine at the side of her attractive white house affords a pic-

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Watt's That?

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Facing the Music

STATION L-O-V-E BY CRAIG CARROLL

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Judy Allison had been in Chicago six months with out finding work when Richard Mason, radio announcer at WAOB, got her a $100 a week position at his studio on A. A. Jenks' new Beauty Builder program. Lona Bardette, who was at the audition had not been selected fairly. You see, Judy had loved her but couldn't ask her to marry him as he had dependent relatives to support. Day also had fallen in love with Judy and told her so. He got her a year's contract for $100 a week. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXII.

"Won't you say something else?" He was actually pleading. Elton Day, the unapproachable, was pleading with a Judy Allison of Hiawatha to understand things that he—whose job was words—could not put into any but halting, broken phrases.

"There's nothing else to say. Except 'Thank you.'"

"And you don't mean that?" "But of course I do. The money is going to help my family a lot. And having a job for a year—it's more than I ever counted on. So, of course, I must thank you."

"Must!" he said eloquently, bitterly. "That's just it. 'Must.' Not because you want to. Not because you've changed a bit in the way you think about me. Just because it's the thing you ought to do."

She was silent. Elton, moving restlessly, stared at himself in the long mirror above the counter, straightened his perfect tie, smoothed his immaculate lapels. Now the momentary look of despair, almost of a longing to be liked, was gone. He was the Elton Day she was used to seeing, smooth, slender, his chin set at just the right angle, his eyes confident and untouched.

"Well, let's go, Judy," he said casually. "No use standing here. Shall I drive you home? I'll get a taxicab."

"No," Judy said. "I've got to send a telegram."

"Of course. Well, I'll see you tomorrow, then. And don't lose your contract. Good-by, Miss Allison."

He hailed a taxicab with an elegant gesture, he stepped inside, disappeared.

Now Judy realized that she had news, news that would make her mother and father happy, make them tell the neighbors, make them tell the phone to cousins and aunts to say, "Judy's doing wonderfully in Chicago, on the radio. She just got a new contract."—Lionel, she thought, she wrote, "Just got new contract. A hundred a week for a year. I'll be sending some home every week. Love, I'm very happy." She wired $50 out of the $200 Jenks had given her as a bonus for signing her contract.

Then she went to Elsie's office to tell Elsie what had happened.

She found Elsie perturbed, almost unpleasant at first.

"Thought you were going to call me up."

"I couldn't, Elsie. I was busy."

"Oh, Dick?"

"No, I—Look, Elsie."

She produced the contract. And Elsie, businesslike, knowing, read through it hurriedly, read it a second time, then whistled, long and low.

"Judy! You're a millionaire! You're set for life! Here, woman! Shake hands! Dance a Highland fling! Do something, anyhow!"

Judy forced a smile. "It is nice, isn't it?" she said.

"Nice!" Elsie mocked her. "Nice! Yeh, and the Grand Canyon's a nice little thing, too! Nice! Hey—Mike! Tell her how I'm taking the afternoon off. Got things to do. Got business. Got to go to Africa for the week-end. You hear me? Here Judy, is my hat on straight? Is it? It isn't? It wouldn't be. Well, come on, woman! Come on! We've got to celebrate! Gee! A hundred a week!"

It was like that for a half-hour, with Elsie talking, laughing, almost shouting; with Judy answering in monosyllables, only once in a while. Until, in the cool depths of the big motion-picture house, Elsie turned suddenly, whispering, "You're not tickled a bit! What's wrong with you, anyhow, Judy?"

"Nothing. Oh, nothing."

"Don't lie to me! What's it all about?"

Hesitantly, then more rapidly, Judy poured out the story. How she watched Elton force Jenks into giving her the contract, how she let him make Jenks think she was a party to it, how she said nothing when she should have spoken.

"Huh!" said Elsie suddenly. "I see right now that a movie is no place for me and thou. Come on. Let's go buy a hat."

"But—"

"Buying a hat," said Elsie sagely, "is the best way in the world for a girl to get over feeling sorry. I'll prove it."

And, in the hat store on State street, Judy realized that Elsie was right. Spending $20 for a new, elegant hat—knowing there would be a $100 check waiting for her Saturday, knowing there would be a check just like it waiting every Saturday from now on for a year, for 52 long weeks—Judy knew that money is a good thing, that security in a job is a thing that changes your viewpoint and makes you see new values. And soon she was agreeing with Elsie that what Elton Day had done was not crickety, hardly fair; but that perhaps his specious excuse was right.

"He looked different," Judy said. "When he was trying to explain I got a feeling that he was trying to be somebody else. Trying not to be the way he's always been before. I almost felt sorry for him. Honestly, Elsie."

"Huh!" Elsie jeered. "Feel sorry for him? Didn't he try to cheat you out of that job?"

"Yes, but then he cheated to get it for me."

"What?"

"Yes, Elsie. I'm all mixed up. I'm worried, Elsie. That girl—that Burdette girl. She'd do anything to get even with me because I got the job. Because—Judy flushed, but went on—"because Elton Day has been so interested in me."

Elsie stared. "You go too fast. You're way ahead of me. Better tell all, Judy."

Now Judy did.

About the audition, and what was done to make sure that she got the job. About Lona, and her threats that were more suggested than said. About the Elton, almost incredible, change in Elton Day. About the luncheon with Jenks, and the way Day made Jenks sign a contract he had no intention of signing.

Elsie said, softly, "Poor kid!"

"That's not it. I've no right to cry about anything, Elsie. I'm getting money, and I've a good job, and as far as my mother and father are concerned I'm a success. I can't tell them about any of this. They wouldn't understand, anyhow. But it's Dick who worries me."

"Why?"

"That girl Lona was trying to see Jenks today. To tell him something. Suppose Lona should prove the audition was wrong? If she did, they'd blame it on me. And I've a contract. They'll have to keep me on the program now, no matter what happens. But if Dick loses his job—"

"He won't," Elsie said, confidently. "Not Dick Mason. He's the best announcer they've got."

"That won't help a bit if they think he cheated to get a job for me."

"Then you'd better tell him all about it. So he can cover up."

"I can't tell him, Elsie. I can't tell him at all."

"Why not?"

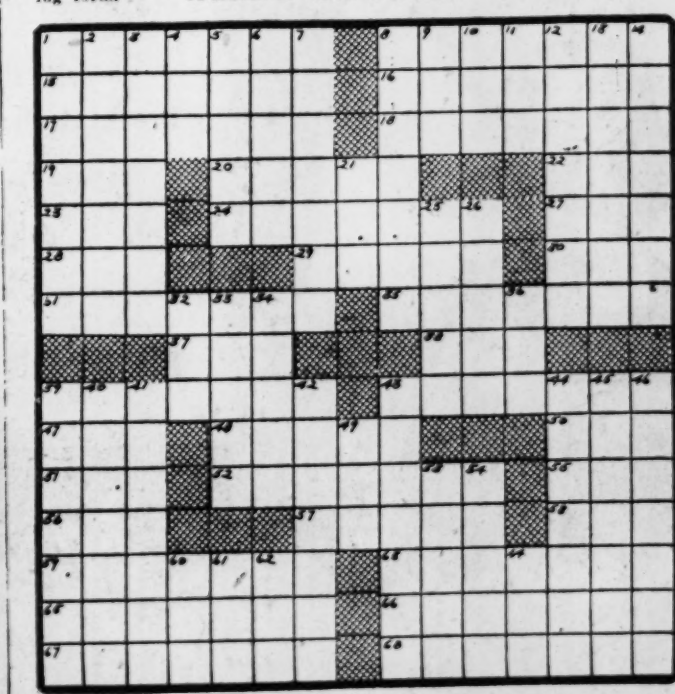

"Don't you see? He did want me to get the job, and he did help me all the way. And now I tell him that it was a trick of Elton Day's that really did it—and I didn't tell him right at first; I've kept it to myself and this time—don't you see how he'd feel?"

"Yes. You're right. Never pays to tell a man anything, anyhow."

GEORGIA LABOR MEETS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Columbus Welcomes Leaders of Organized Labor as Sessions Open.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 20.—(P)—Labor leaders from throughout the state today opened the 34th annual session of the Georgia Federation of Labor.

Most of the day was given over to the formalities of welcoming and routine business of the convention.

Mayor H. C. Smith, Commissioner Ed Wohlwend, J. Ralston Gargill of the chamber of commerce, Walker Flournoy of the American Legion and Hoke Williamson of the Merchants' Association were among those welcoming the visitors in addresses.

The message of welcome on behalf of local labor was delivered by President W. C. Jeffries of the Columbus Central Labor Union. Mr. Jeffries is a member of the Moving Picture Operators' Union, one of 15 local unions affiliated with the central body. The moving picture union is host to the convention.

J. Sid Tiller, of Atlanta, president of the state federation of labor, responded to the address of welcome and presided over the convention. Mr. Tiller is a member of the printing pressmen's union and O. E. Petty, of the typographical union, is secretary and treasurer. Both officials are with the Ruralist Press in Atlanta. Mr. Petty formerly lived here and has been active in the labor movement for many years.

The afternoon session was featured by an address by Miss Gay B. Shoppe, formerly lived here and has been active in the labor movement for many years.

Eugene Talmadge, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, was scheduled to address the convention Thursday, but because of the funeral services in Columbus tomorrow afternoon for Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia, delayed his appearance. Instead, he will appear on Friday's program.

A trip of inspection to Fort Benning, giant military reservation near here, is the chief item on tomorrow's program. Officers will be named at Friday's meeting and the next convention city selected.

SEVENTEEN ARRESTED IN LIQUOR 'ROUNDUPS'

MACON, Ga., April 20.—(P)—Arrested in "roundups" in Butts, Monroe and Lamar counties, 17 men Wednesday were committed to United States district court following hearings before Commissioner W. E. Martin on charges of violating the national prohibition act.

Working under cover for the last several weeks, federal prohibition agents say they have made purchases of whiskey from all of the men, some of them operators of filling stations, others selling whiskey from their homes.

Rosier Is Home Winner

ROME, Ga., April 20.—P. R. Rosier today won the election to the city commission, post recently vacated by Sam Howell, resigned, by a total of 182 to 129 votes, over Charles Blackstock. Voting was the lightest in any municipal election in years.

LaGrange Lions Club To Don Cotton Suits

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 20.—The members of the Lions Club here will appear in cotton suits at their regular meeting Tuesday, May 17, according to a resolution adopted yesterday. The resolution also provided that all members failing to appear in cotton suits at this meeting would be obligated to appear at the next meeting thereafter in cotton pajamas.

This action by the Lions Club is in line with the movement for the increased use of cotton inaugurated by the Kiwanis Clubs of Georgia, whose members are to appear in cotton suits at all regular club meetings during the week of May 1, which has been designated "Kiwanis cotton week."

EASTMAN YOUTH SUES PAPER, CHARGING LIBEL

MACON, Ga., April 20.—(P)—The Macon Telegraph Publishing Company Wednesday was made defendant in an action filed in superior court by Harry Hargrove, 20, of Eastman, claiming $20,000 for an alleged libelous news story which appeared in the Telegraph on March 31, 1932.

The suit charges that the news story called Mr. Hargrove a convict. In his petition, the Eastman youth said he had never been charged with or convicted of crime, never had been a convict, and said he is the only Harry Hargrove in Dodge county.

The suit alleged that the Telegraph "falsely, wickedly and maliciously composed and published" the news story. Hargrove is represented by A. R. Ross and C. W. Atwell, attorneys.

"The Telegraph published the story referred to in Mr. Hargrove's suit in good faith, thinking it was accurate, and with no intention or desire to do him an injury. The first notice the Telegraph has had of any complaint by Mr. Hargrove was his suit. If he had applied to the Telegraph, the paper would have corrected any error made, giving as much prominence to the correction as to the error."

HARGROVE CHARGES LIBEL

A suit seeking $20,000 damages for alleged libel was filed Wednesday in Fulton superior court by Harry Hargrove, of Dodge county, through his father, W. T. Hargrove, as next friend, against The Constitution Publishing Company.

The plaintiff claims that he was caused embarrassment and humiliation by publication in The Constitution of March 31 that a Dodge county convict "was stationed with another convict, Harry Hargrove, to warn traffic of construction work. . . . Hargrove, who is 20, never has been convicted of a crime of any kind, and he is the only person in Dodge county having the name of Harry Hargrove, the petitioner alleges.

NEGRO IS CONVICTED ON CHARGE OF ARSON

MACON, Ga., April 20.—(P)—John Brunson, negro, this afternoon was convicted by a jury in Bibb superior court on a charge of arson and sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary. The state charged that Brunson set fire to a residence last April.

Attorneys for Brunson will seek a new trial, it was said. Brunson claims an alibi. He is represented by R. D. Fagin, Emmett L. Jackson and C. D. Irwin, attorneys.

B. Y. P. U. CONFERENCE FOR MACON APRIL 28

Three Other 1-Day Conventions Set for Cedartown, Griffin, Toccoa.

MACON, Ga., April 20.—Young people in the Baptist churches over Georgia are expected to attend three one-day regional B. Y. P. U. conferences which will be held between April 28 and May 3 at Macon, Cedartown, Griffin and Toccoa. E. E. Lee, of Dallas, Texas, B. Y. P. U. field worker for the south; Miss Winnie Rickett, of Raleigh, N. C., state B. Y. P. U. secretary of that state, and others from over Georgia will appear on the program, according to an announcement by Edwin S. Preston, of Atlanta, state B. Y. P. U. secretary.

These conferences are the concluding group of 12 such meetings which have been held during the past month covering the other sections of Georgia. Problems of B. Y. P. U. work will hold the attention of conference delegates during the sessions in each of these gatherings. Stewardship and missionary emphasis will be given in addresses at the close of each session.

The meeting here will be held at the Tabernacle church on Thursday, April 28, beginning at 10:30 and lasting through a night session. The Cedartown meeting will be held on Saturday, April 30, continuing through the night session. The Griffin conference on Sunday, May 1, will be only an afternoon meeting beginning at 2 o'clock. The session at Toccoa will start on Tuesday, May 3, at 10:30 and continue through a night session.

Regional B. Y. P. U. officers of the regions touched by these meetings are as follows: Central eastern region, Gainer E. Bryan, of Sandersville, regional president; northwestern region, Carl R. McGinnis, of Chickamauga, regional president; and Mrs. Mary Lee White, of Dalton, regional leader; central western region, Grady A. Lee, of Atlanta, regional president; J. D. Matheson, of Roanoke, regional president; and Mrs. J. W. Gates, of Columbus, regional leader; northeastern region, Rudel, of Cornelia, regional leader.

ALABAMA MAN HELD IN DEATH OF GEORGIAN

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 20.—(P)—Clifford T. Huggins, 44, is being held in jail at Opelika, Ala., in connection with the fatal shooting of Thomas Farley, 60, of Columbus, who died in a hospital here Tuesday night after being shot.

Huggins was arrested shortly after the shooting which occurred at the home of Mrs. C. T. Huggins in Phenix City, Ala. Mr. and Mrs. Huggins were estranged, it was stated.

An examination showed that the pistol which Huggins had when arrested contained three empty shells, officers stated.

Plant "God's Acre."

McDONOUGH, Ga., April 20.—Sharon Baptist church, Rev. Gordon L. Brooks, pastor, yesterday planted a "God's acre" patch of cotton. The five-acre tract to be cultivated has been donated by A. C. Norman, former legislator, and the chairman of the committee on charge is E. W. Barnett, coroner. Nine men of the community are at work preparing the soil and planting the seed, and others have contributed plows, teams, seed and fertilizer.

Berry Schools Entertain Today For Delegates of Garden Club

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., April 20.—A special excursion of members of the Garden Club of America has been arranged to leave headquarters at the Biltmore hotel in Atlanta Thursday morning for the Berry schools, where the delegates will be guests of Miss Martha Berry, founder and director of the schools.

Automobiles are being sent to Atlanta from Mount Berry to pick up delegates at 10 o'clock in the morning. The party will proceed directly over the Dixie highway to Mount Berry, arriving for noon song services at the schools, following which luncheon will be served by Miss Berry to the visitors.

In the afternoon the program will include a motor tour over the 25,000-acre campus of the schools, concluding at Oakhill, the birthplace of Miss Berry, where the gardens and old colonial home will be open to all the guests.

Headquarters of the Garden Club in the Biltmore in Atlanta has been assigned delegates asking for the tour to Mount Berry, the requests being granted in this post-convention trip. The hundred visitors who visited the schools Sunday returned with glowing reports of the beauties of the campus that it was decided to give the special trip when the demand arose.

The party of 12 United States senators topped N. Cedartown for the funeral exercises of Senator Harris also will be guests at the schools tomorrow.

TRIAL OF REINSCHMIDT ENDS WITH NO VERDICT

MADISON, Fla., April 20.—(P)—After deliberating for 27 hours the jury trying John L. Reinschmidt, Quimman (Ga.) manufacturer for second degree murder in connection with the slaying of English B. Smith, of Greenville, Fla., was discharged tonight when it reported it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Twice before the jury returned to the courtroom to tell the judge it was apparently in a deadlock which could not be broken and Judge Hall W. Adams each time sent them back to try further.

No indication was given how the jury stood.

It was Reinschmidt's second trial on the charge of killing Smith, the first having resulted in his conviction and sentence to 20 years in prison on a second degree murder charge.

Judge Adams did not set a date for starting another trial of the case.

MISS AIKEN SELECTED 'VICTORY DAY' SPEAKER

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 20.—Edgar Dunlap, chairman of the Hall county democratic "Roosevelt-for-President" club, announced that Mrs. Edgar Y. Alexander, national democratic committeewoman for the state of Georgia, and Miss Stella Aiken, of Savannah, secretary for the Georgia democratic executive committee, would make the main addresses at the "Victory Day" celebration there next Saturday at the courthouse. The chairman announced also that Ben Guillard, Gainesville lawyer, will also speak.

A luncheon has been planned for these two prominent democratic women at noon, and a program of entertainment will be given. A band concert by the Chicopee band will be given at 2 p. m.

The officers for the women's organization are Mrs. H. W. Morgan, president; Mrs. Lester Hosch, vice president; Mrs. Ed Fish, secretary, and Miss Helen Nelson White, treasurer. For the men's "Roosevelt-for-President" club, officers are E. B. Dunlap, president; M. T. Grimes, vice president; Bill Thomas, treasurer, and Ernest Palmour, secretary.

DRY AGENT DISMISSED FOLLOWING SHOOTING

Gordon Rogers, Federal Officer, Discharged as Outgrowth of Crowe Killing.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., April 20.—Gordon Rogers, federal prohibition agent, has been dismissed from the service, it was learned here today, the action following charges of "inefficiency" growing out of the shooting of Lee Crowe at a distillery in Paulding county on January 17.

Action was taken by the prohibition department after formal charges had been preferred by R. E. Tuttle, prohibition administrator in New Orleans. The dismissal was effective April 9, but was not revealed until today.

Rogers was exonerated of blame in the shooting of Crowe by W. A. Foster Jr., at a justice of peace hearing at Dallas. Jack McCoy, bailiff of Bartow county, who fired the shots which took Crowe's life, was ordered held at this hearing, but was later exonerated by a Paulding county grand jury. McCoy testified he shot Crowe to prevent him from shooting Rogers.

Rogers stated that he will seek reinstatement because he desires to "clear his name."

"I would have much preferred," he said, "that the announcement of my dismissal from the bureau of prohibition at Washington. However, it is true that on April 9 I was dropped from the organization."

"The charges against me were inspired, in my opinion, by personal ill will. These charges were covered by a general charge of 'inefficiency,' the most flagrant being based on the shooting of Lee Crowe near Dallas on January 17, last, by Bailiff Jack McCoy, of Bartow county, in order to save my life."

"Despite the manner in which I have been dismissed I want to say I am not bitter and still believe in prohibition."

Americus Man Kills Fox in Chicken Yard

AMERICUS, Ga., April 20.—Charles H. Schriver, living within the corporate limits of Americus, shot and killed a grey fox in his yard here early Tuesday. The animal measured three hands high and was about the size of a small pointer dog, being fully grown. He was killed by a charge of birdshot while engaged in eating a chicken which he had killed in the Schriver flock. The hide of the fox killed Tuesday will be tanned by Schriver and made into a fur neckpiece for Mrs. Schriver.

"The Giants still have a great ball club," observes a critic. This is largely true, but so far this fact hasn't started John J. McGraw to an outburst of rousing cheers. The better the ball club, the more poison is in the harpoon of defeat.

The victory of De Bruyn, the German, in Boston's stirring marathon, shows again that the odds will favor some foreign entry in the next Olympic distance run. The field will still have Nurni to face, since it is unlikely the Flying Finn will be barred on charges that have yet to be proved.

Boston is one city that has done more than its share in building up distance runners. Boston's marathon has become one of the classic athletic events of the country. It would surprise quite a number of our citizens to know how many runners are now working over the long route to have a shot at the United States marathon team, but even the best of these will have trouble in heading off the Finns and Germans and possibly other entries from nations across the Atlantic.

From the Jungle.

A Princeton graduate of the last four or five years wouldn't know his place now. Not if he were thinking of faces in the coaches' gallery. Hard on the heels of the football crisis that brought Fritz Crisler to Nassau came the victory in basketball, which was not exactly a routine circumstance for Princeton. The ball team almost beat the American league champions, which should make a Tiger grand wonder.

And now he's asked to familiarize himself with an entirely new staff of rowing coaches. Some of them he probably knows, for they are all grads like himself.

Where the situation called for a place in the sun as well as technical skill, Princeton decided to prefer non-graduate football coaching. But in rowing other angles prevail and the Tiger crews are being drilled by non-paid alumni coaches.

Gordon G. Skies is an ex-coachman who sat in the stern of one of Nassau's greatest crews, the 1916 eight that lost only to Cornell. Which was no disgrace, for Pop Courtney's Theta machines stood in a class by themselves. At least one other ex-coachman has made a big success of coaching, Ky Elbright having to his credit the California crew that broke the Poughkeepsie record and won the 1928 Olympic championship.

With neither a Thames river objective participation in the Poughkeepsie regatta to look forward to, Princeton crews are more informally trained than those at the other colleges. Lake Carnegie is still a water world with no facilities for long 10-mile rows.

Chuck Logg had a hard time making the Orange and Blake float over the waves, and Skies is not expected to perform a miracle. Nevertheless, Princeton made a fine showing against Navy last Saturday and in a year when the basketball team can win the league championship, Princeton grads are wondering whether the varsity crew may not at some time or another provide a thrill like that one of several years ago when Princeton, of all under-valued eights, was the one to break Ed Leader's winning streak at Yale. That was a glorious day for Princeton.

Unlike football, however, rowing is a sport which permits few reversals of form. "Tiger" fight, such as astounded the grid fans in the 1920 Yale-Princeton game, hasn't much of a chance to show on the water.

New Members Play At Druid Hills

A "get-together" dinner tournament in honor of many new members who have recently joined the Druid Hills Golf Club will be played this afternoon on the Druid Hills course.

Dr. Claude Hughes and Dr. M. D. Huff have been selected as team captains and play will be in foursomes with at least two new members included in every foursome.

Dr. Ashby Jones, former member of the Druid Hills club and former pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church, will be the principal speaker at the dinner, which will be served in the club dining room.

Those players who desire to enter the tournament today are requested to communicate with either Dr. Hughes, Dr. Huff or Harry Stephens, the club professional, who will be in charge of the tournament. Foursomes will start at both No. 1 and No. 10 tees.

The pairings with members of Dr. Huff's team listed first are:

12-50-John Hughes and Thomas West vs. Forrest Fowler and James Wilson.
12-50-Dr. M. D. Huff and Fred Trague vs. Dr. Claude Hughes and Dr. J. J. Clark.

SMITH'S DEATH ROBS SOUTHERN OF BEST FRIEND

'Uncle Quack' Was Real Buddy; Fought Hard For Game.

By Jack House.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 20.—Birmingham baseball has lost its best friend—W. D. (Quack) Smith, one of the best buddies any ball club ever had.

Sadness hangs over Rickwood field, where headquarters of the Birmingham Baseball Association are located, and this sadness extends over the entire Southern league territory. For Quack Smith was known wherever baseball is played in the south.

A lingering, yet hopeless, battle against death has ended the life of the most beloved man connected with the Barons organization. "Uncle Quack" was known to almost every fan who attended the games at Rickwood, and he was the oldest executive in the Southern league.

There has been something missing this spring at Rickwood—and it will be missing forever now. And things won't seem right without that familiar face on the bench, pulling for the Barons in defeat as well as in victory.

SAT IN DUGOUT.

For years Quack Smith has occupied the same place in the Barons dugout. Rain or shine, the Barons president was there "with the boys." But illness caused him to miss some of the games last year and he had been unable to attend a single one of the games this year before his death.

However, Quack Smith was still "with the boys." From his sick bed at a local infirmary, he protested the actions of physicians in refusing him to listen to the opening day game at New Orleans. In spite of his low and sinking condition, he wanted to hear the game and "be with his boys."

Quack Smith passed on without seeing or hearing a game this year.

Some fans may wonder where Mr. Smith received his odd nickname. "Quack" is seldom associated with baseball and most big baseball men have nicknames to suit their trade. However, Mr. Smith received his nickname before he became an executive in baseball.

HIS NICKNAME.

This moniker came when he was studying to be a physician. In fact, it was placed on him back in his grammar school days and it was his nickname that later caused Mr. Smith to change his would-be occupation. Desiring to become a medic, Mr. Smith realized that the name he had acquired would do his profession no good at all, so he decided to be a baseball man.

The nickname "Quack" was applied to Smith because of his ability to talk on ducks, or rather to recite a certain speech about ducks. When only a kid, Mr. Smith would recite this speech before breakfast and before long he had the speech down so good that he was telling it at school. And once the school kids got hold of it, it was "Quack" Smith from then on out.

Mr. Smith became interested in baseball's business side in 1907. Harry Vaughn, then manager of the Birmingham team, traded Smith three shares of stock in the Barons for groceries at Smith's store, and two years later he was named treasurer of the club. He became president of the Birmingham Baseball Association in 1915 when Robert H. Baugh, then president of the club, was named president of the Southern league, replacing the late President Kavanaugh. Mr. Smith had served as president of the local club since 1915.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—After Danny MacFadyen and Bobby Burke had pitched gilt-edged ball through eight innings, Boston scored a run in the ninth to break a deadlock, but Washington scored two in its turn to defeat the Red Sox today, 4 to 3.

With two out, Judge singled, Bludge walked, and Spencer's single put over the tying run. Then the young Washington pitcher hammered out a single for the winning run.

PUBLIC'S LACK OF ENTHUSIASM IRKS JOHNSTON

Conflict of Interest in Political Conventions Is Worry.

By Edward J. Neil.

Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—The crop of "headaches" that annually besets a heavyweight championship fight has set in early for Madison Square Garden, Herr Max Schmeling and Jack Sharkey.

The Garden is digging a great hole in the ground out in Long Island city, where a stadium seating 75,000 is to be erected by June 16, when the Boston sailor is scheduled to make his second attempt to beat Schmeling for the title.

But the possibility loomed today that this date will be set back to at least two weeks, because of construction problems, conflict in public interest with the political conventions in Chicago, and general lassitude on the part of prospective customers.

At the Garden's insistence, Sharkey was asked to appear here to ruffle the ballroom drums if only in picking a training site.

While the Garden sold the motion picture rights to the June fracas today for a sum "approaching $50,000," there still was no official announcement as to the top price to be charged for ringside seats. Unofficially it has been remarked that the choice seats will sell for $25 each, including taxes.

Johnston, the Garden's fistic manager, has withdrawn his campaign to end Max Schmeling's exhibition tour because of objections that the German was bound by contract to appear in a dozen cities and would be liable at law for failure to do so. He is decidedly irked, however, at Schmeling's failure to attract larger attendances.

Albany Plans State Open Tourney

ALBANY, Ga., April 20.—(AP)—Georgia may have a state open golf championship this year.

The Radium Springs Golf Club here plans to hold an official open tournament some time this summer, if enough professionals and amateurs in the state show interest.

G. F. Alford, manager of the Radium Springs Club, has written prominent professionals and amateurs asking whether they would care to participate in such a tournament.

Georgia did not have an open tournament last season, but in 1930 Gene Cook, of Atlanta, won in Athens, Ga., by a margin of 13 strokes in the 72-hole medal play event.

Cook recently was named professional here at the James L. Key course, and will forsake his amateur status about May 1.

The Akron Mills nine, 9 to 8, in a fast game.

Goodyear cleaned the bases in the ninth to win, the winning run coming in when Pitcher Horan hit a batsman and forced a runner home. Heavy hitting featured the game, the losers out-hitting the winners, 12 to 11.

C. McKay and Gault pitched for Goodyear, while A. Horan twirled for Akron.

ED LEWIS SEEKS DAN, GUS, HENRI ALL IN ONE RING

'Strangler' Will Meet Trio Anywhere, But Preferably Here.

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world champion wrestler, yesterday afternoon issued a challenge to Dan George, Gus Sonnenberg and Henri DeGlane to meet him in the same ring on the same night; the three to receive all the gate receipts and Lewis to work for nothing and donate $5,000 to any charity designated by the boxing commission.

"I do not regard any one of the three as a real wrestler," said Lewis. "I lost some matches to Sonnenberg but I have sworn affidavits from physicians to show that I was practically blind at the time from the trouble which caused me to almost lose my sight. I could hardly see my hand before my face."

"Since then my eyes have recovered. And it would be a pleasure to beat all three of them in the same ring on the same night. That's what I think of them."

"Henri DeGlane bit his own arm in a match in Canada and claimed a foul. The officials there gave the match to him. He refused to show his arm later because he knew the teeth marks would hit his own teeth, not mine. And he has dodged me since."

"Of course I beat George. But the last time I wrestled Sonnenberg I was almost blind and got no better than a draw."

HERE OR ANYWHERE. "I will now and I would like to get rid of them. That's why I'll donate $5,000 of my own money and wrestle for nothing if they will meet me in Atlanta or any other city."

Lewis left Atlanta Wednesday night for New Orleans. He made his first appearance in Atlanta in some years Tuesday night when he defeated Pat O'Shocker in 55 minutes with a headlock.

Lewis has been for years one of the most popular wrestlers in the game. His headlock is one of the most powerful holds the game has ever known.

GIANTS 14; PHILLIES 5. Philadelphia, April 20.—With Bill Terry again in the lead, the New York Giants won a batting range today, smothering the Phillies under 17 hits to win, 14 to 5. An opening day crowd of about 12,000 saw the slaughter. Terry hit two home runs for the second day in succession and batted in five runs to make it 11 in two games. Travis Jackson and Freddy Lindstrom also hit homers and Lindy drove home five runs.	PIRATES 7; CARDS 0. Pittsburgh, April 20.—Another home-town boy made good today, and the Pittsburgh Pirates blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 0, in the season's opener at Forbes field. A crowd of 10,000 saw Steve Sweeney hold the champions hitless until two were out in the eighth. It was the fifth loss in a row for the Cards.

HALL, FLORIDA, DECATHLON ACE

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—Seven all-around athletes, from six different colleges will compete in the decathlon championship in the 38th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival, on April 29 and 30.

Colgate will be represented by two entrants with Pennsylvania, Delaware, Villanova, Westminster and Florida each having a single entrant.

Two of the seven, E. J. Klauer, of Colgate, and George Munger, of Pennsylvania, finished second and third respectively last year when Bernard Berlinger was crowned the champion for the third successive year.

With Berlinger among the graduates and therefore not eligible to compete this year, the battle for the championship should be keenly waged. Klauer and Munger stand out as the favorites because of the close battle they waged last year when the former tossed out the Pennsylvania entrant by the narrow margin of 1.465 points.

Joseph Hall, of Florida, is expected to provide the main opposition for the Colgate and Pennsylvania entrants. In 1930, the Gator all-around star finished third in the national decathlon championships with a total of 7,075.071 points, less than 300 back of Wilson Charles, of Haskell, who won the event.

Last year Hall finished seventh in the greatest field of all-around stars in track history, despite the fact that he improved in nine of the ten events. Since the close of the last football season Hall has been training diligently for the decathlon. Weather conditions permitted the Florida star to work outdoors all winter.

GUS VICTOR.
NEW YORK, April 20.—(P)—Gus Sonnenberg, of Boston, used a series of flying tackles to throw Joe Vargas, of Cleveland, after 22:55 of the mail wrestling bout at St. Nicholas arena tonight. Sonnenberg weighed 205, Vargas 202.

REDS DEVELOP MORE STRENGTH; BEAT CUBS, 7-2

Bruins Never in Game After Third; Pat Malone Hit Hard.

By Charles W. Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer.
CHICAGO, April 20.—The Chicago Cubs failed to get into gear today as the Cincinnati Reds turned on some of the season's best hitting power for a 7-2 victory.

Weak at bat and erratic in the field, the Cubs never were in the battle after the third inning when the Reds hammered Pat Malone for five runs and drove him to cover.

While the Reds were making merry with their Chicago pitchers, Red Lusch, ace of the Cincinnati staff, held his opposition to five hits, two of them by Stanley Hack, the expensive new Cub third baseman.

Thirty thousand fans came out to Wrigley field to take their first look at the organization that did so well on the road and saw quality rather than quantity, for Rogers Hornsby was forced to call on 14 hands.

After a parade to the flagpole, the Reds started their own parade. Douthett beat out a hit off Hack's glove and went to second on a passed ball by Gabby Hartnett. Babe Herman's single sent him home with the first run. That was only a hint of what was to come.

Lucas singled in the third and was followed by Douthett. The latter stole second and went to third when Hartnett fired the ball into center field. Hack fumbled Gilbert's grounder, Douthett scored, and walks to Herman and Crabtree filled the bases.

Then Joe Morrissey, recruit second sacker, cleared the bases with a double and scored the way from second on an infield hit by Dugocher. Morrissey's second double scored Heath in the fifth.

Two who quelled the Reds in the opening series at Cincinnati, departed during the uprising, and Jackie May, Ed Baecht and Bud Tinning divided what was left of the hurling.

TRIPLE BY JUEK GIVES LOOKOUTS 6-TO-5 VICTORY

Travelers Are Beaten as League Leaders Continue Unbeaten.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 20.—Chattanooga scored its ninth straight victory of the season here today with a 6-5 decision over Little Rock.

Little Rock's triple and Price's willingness to net the winning run in the eighth, netted the victory for the Cubs.

Today's victory bettered the 1931 mark set by the Lookouts when they won eight straight ball games.

South's Light-Heavy Champion

Here is Bob Godwin, light-heavyweight champion of the south (left), with his father-manager, Arthur Godwin, upon his visit yesterday to Atlanta en route to Washington, D. C., where he will fight Cowboy Owen Phelps on May 2. Godwin has made rapid progress in the boxing game in the five years that he has been fighting. He is now ranked fourth among the light-heavies and appears to be on an unbroken march to the top of the division.

RUTH REPLACES GEHRIG IN RACE; 3 GIANTS SLUG

Foxx Continues To Lead Pack in Big Six Bat Chase.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 20.—The Philadelphia Phillies, who clouted Philadelphia pitching for 17 hits yesterday, took complete possession of the leading places on the National league batting list.

Freddy Lindstrom, with three hits in five tries, held the league lead with a .452 average; Hughes Critz, with the same results, took third place, and Bill Terry, with three out of six, went into second.

Babe Ruth made the only change among the American league leaders, poking out two hits in three times at bat to gain second place. Lou Gehrig shoved down to third and Roy Johnson was ousted from the Big Six list.

Jimmy Foxx, of the Athletics, continued to lead both circuits although one hit in four at bats dropped his average to .481.

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 76

© 1932, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

As Tarzan continued to stand erect, King Elko-mohego glared at him. "Down, fellow!" cried Zanthrothgo. Then recalling that the new slave could not understand, the wizard commanded Komodoflorens to order Tarzan to kneel. But Tarzan only shook his head.

After a little hesitation, the king decided to swallow his pride and said: "It is but an ignorant fool. Have him properly instructed before we see him again. . . . In the jungle some distance away the Alali women, fifty strong, sallied forth to punish their rebellious males.

Never in the memory of any of the Alali shees had man dared question their authority or show aught but fear of them. In an ugly mood the shees came upon their men in a large clearing, where the rebellious men had built a fire and were cooking a number of antelopes.

Never had the women seen their men so sleek and trim. Always they had been shamefully skinny, before the day Tarzan of the Apes gave weapons to the sons of the First Woman. Stealthily the women were creeping nearer when one of the males looked up and discovered the hideous party.

SECRECY MARKS LINDBERGH HUNT

Mystery Woman's Identity and Mission Is Closely Guarded.

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 20.—(P)—Her identity still a secret, the woman who came here from Kansas City supposedly to see Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, left today. Her mission likewise remained a mystery as she took off from Camden, N. J., in the large red monoplane in which she landed at Princeton yesterday.

"I cannot tell why I came," she said. "I am not a wealthy woman but I hired this plane because I had a very important errand here. That is all I can say." She denied her mission concerned the Lindbergh kidnapping case.

At Kansas City, Walter C. Taber said he rented the plane Monday to the woman for $300 to make what she said was to be a trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., and possibly to New York. Otto Ferguson was the pilot. Her haste seemed unusual, Taber said, because she chartered the plane only 20 minutes before departure of a regular transport plane.

Dr. John C. Condon, the "Jafse" who paid $50,000 of Colonel Lindbergh's money to a supposed representative of the kidnapers, remained silent in his Bronx home, neither confirming nor denying a report he again made contact with the kidnapers yesterday while rowing in Pelham bay.

At St. John, N. B., Chief of Police E. M. Slader charged the New Jersey state police with originating the report that Harry Fleischer, Detroit purple gangster, had been seen in St. John. He said they wanted to "drag a herring" across the path of their investigation.

Henry (Red) Johnson, sailor suitor of Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse, remained on Ellis island. He

Mystery Woman Ends Hop: Trained in Kansas City

Saying she flew over the home of Charles A. Lindbergh near Hopewell, N. J., yesterday because "I wanted to see it," an unidentified woman reappeared tonight in the plane she chartered for a mysterious flight to the east.

She refused to divulge her name or to say if she had conferred with Colonel Lindbergh.

An automobile driven by Walter C. Taber, owner of the plane which she chartered, took her away from the airport.

The automobile was trailed to a residence where a woman, who said she was the only person in the house, later gave the name of Mrs. Lee Fautsch, but declined to say if she was the one who made the plane flight.

The woman passenger was a brunette of medium height, apparently about 40 years old and weighing about 150 pounds.

TENNESSEAN KILLS GIRL AND COMMITTS SUICIDE

COVINGTON, Tenn., April 20.—(P)—A 17-year-old boy, the son of a man and her 35-year-old married lover died today in what Deputy Sheriff J. P. Walker said was a suicide pact.

Walker said Jack Adams, 35, farmer, slashed the throat of Mrs. Kate Budgess with a razor early today after she had swallowed poison tablets and then cut himself to death.

Walker said Mrs. Budgess took the poison and then summoned Adams. He said Adams arrived immediately, slashed the girl's throat in the belief the poison might not prove fatal, and then killed himself while his wife looked on. The Adams have four children.

TAXPAYERS' STRIKE IS ENDED IN CHICAGO

1928, 1929 and 1930 Assessments Held Valid by Court.

CHICAGO, April 20.—(P)—A strike of taxpayers in Chicago was ended today by a ruling of the state supreme court. Collection of back taxes and the restoration of Chicago's financial credit were made possible by a court decision which held valid the assessments rolls of 1928 and 1929 as well as of 1930 by reversing a decision of Judge Edmund J. James.

He had held previously that the levies were illegal because they did not tax personal property enough. The high court today ruled that the county could proceed with the collection of overdue taxes—more than $100,000,000 still unpaid, more than $72,000,000 tied up in court action and, in addition to 1930 taxes, only partly paid.

The immediate result was the greatest display of optimism in the city since the financial crisis of 1929 and county buildings that had been seen in several years. The real estate associations, which had fought the levies, had threatened to carry the case to the United States supreme court.
